Parents Prevail; Schools Here Restore Bus Runs

Thanks to a detailed and cogent argument by Don Atwater of 7 Manor Place, Menlo Park school district parents had their bus service restored Tuesday night.

At the end of a two-hour discussion, three of four board members present switched to favoring restoration of bus transportation, which the entire board had unanimously agreed to abandon last June.

Restitution of the service—at a cost to the district of $19,000—will result in a "deficit financing" situation, with reserves at the end of the current year lower than they were at the beginning.

William Platt persided at the meeting, which was held at Encinal School multi-use room since the crowd of 70 persons could not be accommodated at the board's regular meeting place at its central office.

He defined the ground rules for presentations from the audience: first, a discussion of access to schools and hazards and second, a discussion of costs and budgets.

Atwater then took the floor with his careful presentation.

First, he said, he felt the route from Linfield Oaks to Stanford Village to be unusually hazardous: said he felt the board didn't know of this at the time; that it was pressured by contract deadlines into deciding against bus transport at the time.

OTHER COSTS

He added that Menlo Park police indicated they'd need to put on two special officers at a cost of $120 a month each to patrol Middlefield Road crossings at Linfield Drive and the entrance to Stanford Village.

Quoting the hours of opening and closing classes at the elementary schools and at Menlo-Atherton High School, he pointed out that conflicts would result, also.

The split jurisdiction along Ringwood Avenue—shared by Menlo Park, Atherton and the county—was also seen as contributing to the hazard.

Trustee Dr. Hiram Mears, who later abstained from voting for restoration of the bus service, explained his views:

If the school district felt safety to be its concern, he said, all children should theoretically be put aboard buses at their homes. Heretofore, the district has only transported those residing more than three-quarters of a mile from school, anyhow.

He pointed out that many of the streets within the shorter perimeter are as hazardous as those over-far distances from the schools.

Atwater returned to the discussion to add that a survey of parents—who had been contacted with an eye to forming a private contract for bus service—were mainly concerned about children of kindergarten-through-third grade age.

'HARDSHIP'

Some, he said, would face considerable hardship in raising $75 a year a child to finance such transportation.

Several other members of the audience indicated they felt there should be bus transportation only for children up to third grade age.

These included Arnold Manson and a Mrs. Rountree (first name not given.)

Don Sevy, 4 Claremont Place, said he favored buses "but without much emotion." However, considering the safety situation, he thought they were important in the present case.

Irwin Mittelman said he felt bus transportation became an obligation of the district at the time school site were selected. Inconvenient location of the sites made it mandatory that they be used in some casee, to "equalize" the effects of inconvenient distance.

Failure to provide such service, he said, would amount to discriminating against some taxpayers.

District Business Manager John Richert, in a review which followed, pointed out that a salary increase for teachers already has resultedt in cuts in the instructional program, including summer school, mathematics research, the augmentation of the Spanish program and the hiring of an administrative intern.

Re-establishment of the bus service program would result in the district spending more than its current revenues, he said.

Trustee Dr. Glen B. Haydon recapitulated his personal position—that there was no simple solution to the school finance picture and that the school district had acted, in his view, "precipitously" in cutting bus service last June.

OTHER "CUTS"

He said he felt that "eight or 10" programs could have been separated out of the instructional budget, for cuts, and added that he saw curriculum problems and "deficiences" such as in math instruction and phonics teaching.

(Dr. Haydon also has been on record as questioning the need for bus transportation over the last three years—ed.)

However, Dr. Haydon continued, he said he felt the school district should provide leadership in a transition period, if buses are to be

Hardship Cases:

HAVE PLAN

Bus service in the Menlo Park Elementary School District, though authorized, probably won't be available the first day of school. A citizen's committee will work to alleviate hardship cases in the meantime, it was announced here Tuesday night.

Persons with genuine hardships in getting their children to school should call Don Atwater, DA 5-7706, or Mrs. James Rogers, DA 6-2296. They are members of a citizens' committee working on an interim solution.

Atherton Tax Rate of 58¢ Gets Approval

Town of Atherton's tax rate was this week authorized to jump 16 per cent above the 50-cent rate maintained for the past three years.

The new rate of 58 cents per $100 assessed valuation has been made necessary, town councilmen agreed, by a raise in pay granted city employees and by the recently-authorized addition of another patrolman to the town's police force.

The budget for the 1962-63 year calls for locally-raised taxes in an amount of $171,402.

Town Administrator W. Howard Boren explained that, while wages have gone up and the need for more police has grown, revenues have not kept pace in some categories.

Money derived from home construction has been relatively less, he said, as the number of lots which could be developed have been used up.

Addition of a new policeman has raised the complement of the police force to 11 patrolmen, two sergeants, a clerk, lieutenant and chief.

In other actions Monday night the town council:

1. Held over, pending a study "on the ground," a request for permission to construct a swimming pool in the front yard area of the Dan Wolcott home, 30 Reservoir Road.

2. Okayed a tentative map for the Hamilton-Wegeforth property facing Walsh Road.

3. Accepted a "record of survey" map for the Blair property, 231 Walsh Road.

4. Approved, subject to filing of an agreement with city administrators, the use of a guest cottage by caretakers at the Dan M. Hauserman home.

5. Okayed an agreement with Edwin A. Seipps Jr. concerning interior alterations to his home.

6. Accepted the town's annual audit report.

Happy End:

TAIL WAGS

"Daisy" is our lost and found story this week. And, conveniently, it all happened on El Camino Real.

Daisy is a female wire-haired terrier who jumped from her owner's car Monday afternoon at the sight of Dr. Eastep's animal hospital at 1258 El Camino Real. She needn't have worried, since owner Joann Benson and her mother were actually stopping to check on the family cat.

But Daisy didn't understand and scooted across El Camino, narrowly missing a car's wheels.

Yesterday morning Joann and her mother asked The Recorder's help in story form. They had covered most of Menlo Park and Atherton with no success.

Luckily, the story became a happy one before press time. Mother and daughter found Daisy on El Camino at San Francisquito Creek and packed the crying dog home to the reassuring atmosphere of 149 Bay Road.

PG&E Bids for Changes

Work on a controversial Skyline transmission line almost came to a standstill this week as Pacific Gas and Electric Co. bid for changes in its route.

A public hearing has been set for September 26 before the San Mateo County Planning Commission on the PG&E request for an amendment to the use permit granted the line in 1952. The change, if approved, will justify several deviations from the present route.

Planning commission spokesmen said the points in question are at the northern and southern ends of the right-of-way in San Mateo County. They explained that the 1952 use permit allows the utility a 500-foot leeway on each side of the route. At several places it exceeds this by several hundred feet, they said, and at one southern point diverges as much as 5700 feet.

PG&E attorney John A. Sproul requested the change at last week's commission meeting at which Skyline property owners protested the line's construction. In view of the PG&E move, the commission postponed action on the property owners' petition for revocation of the 1952 use permit.

Last Friday PG&E stopped all clearing operations on the tranmission line right-of-way. However, it is continuing work on California Water Service Co. property because of a deadline agreement with the water company people. This entails pouring concrete for piers for steel towers, scheduled to begin next week.

In halting its clearing work, PG&E agreed that it would not contend any additional cost resulting from the postponement.

Sam Whiting Jr., attorney representing the property owners, said the hearing on the use permit amendment would serve his group's purpose.

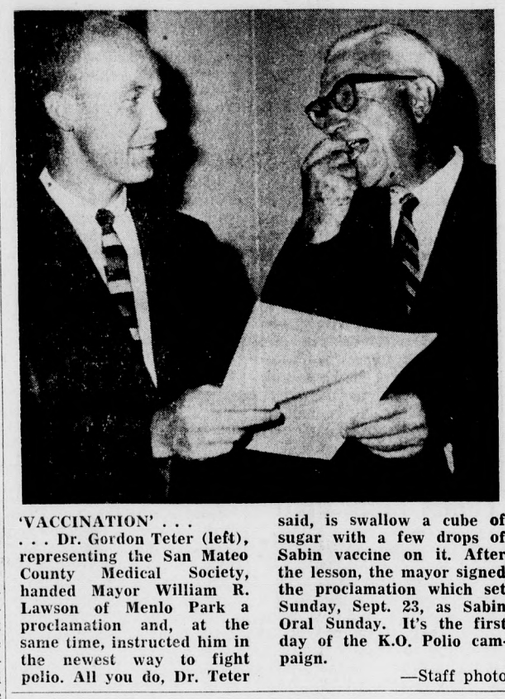

"We want a full hearing on the need of the route as the PG&E proposes. This will accomplish that goal."

Donald Aitken of 20100 Skyline Blvd. declared at last week's commission meeting that PG&E workmen were cutting and clearing on private land. He said crews were cutting a 100-foot swath where the PG&E originally purchased a 50-foot easement.

Whiting's group hopes to explore alternate routes and the feasibility of putting the 220,-000-volt line underground at the September 26 hearing. Their petition contends that the present plan will "irreparably damage" their area.

PG&E spokesmen say that putting the high voltage line underground would be 15 to 20 times more expensive than a tower set-up. Estimated cost of the overhead line is slightly under $4 million.

The 20-mile transmission line is routed from the Jefferson substation on Canada Road in north Woodside to the Monte Vista substation

'VACCINATION' . . . . . Dr. Gordon Teter (left), representing the San Mateo County Medical Society, handed Mayor William R. Lawson of Menlo Park a proclamation and, at the same time, instructed him in the newest way to fight polio. All you do, Dr. Teter said, is swallow a cube of sugar with a few drops of Sabin vaccine on it. After the lesson, the mayor signed the proclamation which set Sunday, Sept. 23, as Sabin Oral Sunday. It's the first day of the K.O. Polio campaign.

Construction to Begin:

Menlo Park Boys Club Plans Get New Approval

Menlo Park Boys Club officials gained city planning commission approval of their revised site and construction plans Monday night — and indicated they were "ready to go" with the first phase of construction.

Representing the club were Fielding McDearmon, Leon Cook and Charles Horton.

Some delays in the project had been required because of a shift from concrete block to frame-and-stucco construction.

The commission, which unanimously approved the revised plans, looked at the two-phase project as described by the Boys Club officials.

The first phase consists of the club offices and meeting rooms. Some 5070 square feet of building space is involved. The second phase of construction will be the gymnasium, which involves 4000 square feet.

Site of the club at Alpine Street, Market Place and Pierce Road in east Menlo Park has been leased to the organization by the city for a token $1 per month charge.

L. C. Smith, area contrator, will oversee construction Local union members will contribute their labor and area building material firms have also indicated they'll donate much of the needed supplies.

The planning commission also acted on another matter involving rezoning just across the street from the Boys Club site.

They approved triplex and duplex zoning for areas along Alpine, Pierce and Market owned by Fred Gutt.

Although Gutt originally sought apartment zoning for his then-commercially zoned land, he entered into talks with the city planners and the Belle Haven Improvement Association, which opposed apartment uses there.

They reached a compromise resulting in the triplex and duplex zoning. The negotiations covered a four-month period.

Acting City Planner Mike Bedwell said the compromise means that population density will be much less than that in an apartment zone.

The agreement was to go to the Menlo Park City Council this week for final action.

Law Court Bans that Tennis Court

The controversial tennis court at the Kenneth R. Templeton home at 375 Camino al Lago this week was ordered removed by noon today.

Superior Court Judge J. A. Branson Monday found Templeton in contempt of an earlier state supreme court decision in which it was found that the tennis court, in a front yard area, was illegal insofar as conforming to the town's zoning ordinances was concerned.

The tennis court was declared illegal shortly after being erected in 1958.

Earlier the same year, the Templetons clashed with the town's zoning ordinance when a tree house was constructed at the edge of the street. No legal controversy developed from that, however, because the tree house mysteriously burned.

Classroom Need Coming—Moore

Ways and means of financing needed Ravenswood City School District construction must be investigated now, district trustees decided Monday night.

Supt. of Schools Roderic V. Moore recommended, and the board approved, that the Citizen's Advisory Committee be asked to begin this survey as soon as possible.

The action could lead to a bond election some time next year.

The major need is for an additional school to relieve 1000-student Brentwood School.

"It is apparent," Moore said, 'that there will be no double sessions this year. And there is not too much of a question that they will not be needed next school year. But after that, the squeeze will be tighter."

He said he hoped that the advisory committee could set up a group to make recommendations on the most desirable ways to finance classroom expansion.

These include use of $206,000 in bond money still available to the district, which would require a tax hike to pay increased bond redemption costs; a combination bond election and state aid election which would allow the tax rate to stay where it is; and seeking a new bond election without the state aid. The latter would also mean a tax increase.

Moore said he will ask the committee to look at district needs. They will study the Brentwood area school proposal, adding classrooms to Costano School, building a multi-use structure at Garden Oaks School, adding to the administration building and perhaps consider multi - use buildings for other kindergarten-through sixth grade schools.

"The committee could be asked to set up a priority list," Moore said.

And the group could also recommend general dates for elections, the superintendent said, and then carry through with a campaign supporting the expansion program.

"I'm very much for this procedure," Trustee Mrs. Charlotte Roden commented. Trustee Roy Seagraves made the board request to the citizen's group official with a motion.

Moore said that Ben Marsh, citizen's committee chairman, will discuss the district request at the committee's Wednesday, Sept. 12, meeting. Marsh told Moore he hopes to appoint subcommittees then and have them report back at the October meeting "for a thorough discussion."

"We would like some guidance on this by the first of the year," Moore said. He indicated hope that an election could be held early in 1963.

In other matters, the trustees:

— Heard board president Mrs. Margaret Cochrane ask for adjournment to executive session so that the board could take part in evaluation of the superintendent and of themselves. It's a trial run of a document which lists criteria for a school system, school superintendent and school board.

(Mrs. Cochrane was a member of the California Association of School Administrators and California School Boards Association joint committee which developed the document.)

— Approved attendance of board clerk Wesley Pomeroy at a Human Relations training seminar at University of California. Mrs. Cochrane said the seminar is aimed at "analyzing and improving leadership skills."

— Learned that the Garden Oaks School site had never been annexed to the Menlo Fire Protection District. Steps were taken to start annexation of the "island" to the fire district.

— Heard Moore report that almost all of the district's teachers who held provisional credentials a year ago have now obtained full credentials.

Our New Press:

Twenty-Ton Baby Is Loaded Aboard Train—Due Sept. 6

The Recorder's new $125,000 Goss Urbanite press was reported on board a freight train at Chicago early this week, and is expected to be installed here beginning Sept. 6.

The shipment, more than 20 tons, will arrive by Southern Pacific Piggyback via Illinois Central and Union Pacific, it was indicated by a bill of lading received here.

Several items of auxiliary equipment already have been delivered at the Recorder's office, and new electrical and plumbing installations also have been added, according to C. A. Burley, publisher of the Recorder and the Ravenswood Post.

It is hoped that first publication on the new press can be made in mid-September but this depends on how soon the new machinery can be made fully operative, Burley said.

Scheduled as first publication on the new press is a special Progress '62 edition, planned, according to Burley, to be a "comprehensive look at this mid-Peninsula area—how it got this way and where it is going from here."

The special edition will introduce the Recorder's new format—a narrower, more convenient page—as well as its new printing process, expected to provide clean, sharp reproduction of both text and photographs. It will feature, too, the first use of color in the newspaper's history.

Along with the new appearance of the newspaper, the Recorder will begin, with the Progress '62 edition, a new distribution system that will send the newspaper to every home in Menlo Park, Atherton, Woodside and Portola Valley.

WATER PIPE BURSTS

Menlo Park Fire District firemen were called to 1025 Runnymede St. on Friday when a water pipe burst. They assisted the property owner in turning off the water.

Street Job Is the Issue:

City Mayor, Opponents Clash In the Battle of Bay Road

One of the more heated moments of recent Menlo Park City Council history developed Tuesday night when a group opposing repaving and widening of a short stretch of Bay Road clashed with Mayor William R. Lawson.

The council eventually made the project a part of the city's gas tax financed street improvement program.

But there was acrimony, and plenty of it, for a time.

The session began quietly enough with City Manager John R. Johnson explaining that the improvement area is between Ringwood Avenue and the city-county boundary just south of Flood Park.

He noted that the county had dropped plans to widen Bay Road from the city-county boundary to Marsh Road because of a host of protests. Menlo Park has also received petitions and protests against the city plan, he said.

Raymond Bjorkquist, 312 Bay Road, Menlo Park, told the council that "the city should wait and see what the county does," adding that he saw "no reason to widen our particular part of Bay Road." It would alvite more traffic, he said.

Mayor Lawson said that it was difficult for him to see how improving a portion of Bay Road would invite more traffic.

Bjorkquist suggested that it might influence the county to consider reviving their project.

"We attempt to represent all city taxpayers," Lawson said. "We are trying to improve a street that's in bad condition. It is now too costly to maintain in its present condition. If we pursue the logic offered here, we would not improve any city streets anywhere for fear of increasing traffic."

Councilman Silas Payne said that the city's technical advisors have said that resurfacing Bay Road—a point suggested by the protestants — wouldn't do any good.

Because of drainage problems, 'the base of the roadway is shot," Payne said. It needs reconstruction, he said.

City Engineer Ed Smith explained that the city had to meet certain state requirements on street width in order to get gas tax money. The street, now 20 to 23 feet in width, would be widened to include two 12-foot traffic lanes and seven to eight feet of parking area and curbs on each side.

This would look much the same as the Bay Road area on the other side of Ring-

Edward J. Ryan Steps Down:

Graduate of Night Law School Retires as Judge

JUDGE RYAN

On Sept. 30, the last graduate of the Sequoia Adult Evening School's one "law class" to occupy a municipal court bench will retire from that position.

He's Judge Edward J. Ryan, a native of Redwood City and long-time Menlo Park resident, who moved from his former home here, back to the county seat, in 1959.

Judge Ryan was first appointed to a judgeship — that of the Menlo Park municipal court — in 1935. In 1935, the judicial set-up for the county was changed and Ryan became one of two South San Mateo County municipal judges; he is retiring at the minimum age of 60.

The judge recalls several things about Menlo Park's early days as an incorporated community.

"Among my first cases, we had quite a few complaints about opium-smoking," he recalls. Menlo Park at the time had the largest "Chinatown between San Francisco and San Jose.

But things weren't nearly as hectic, from the point of view of a judge, as they have since become, Judge Ryan avers.

"Nowadays, it seems we have congestion everywhere," he says. It's as bad on the courts as anywhere else; it seems general throughout the community.

Judge Ryan recalls the law school course, too.

"About 150 of us signed up and only 10 or 12 completed the four years of study,' 'he remembers. "I worked my way hrough by working in the old Menlo Park butcher shop, for the late Harry Doughty, from 1929 until he completed the course in 1932.

Some of the instructorrs are still active; Palo Alto attorney Frank Crist and attorney Pierce Combs were among the instructors.

Among the alumni of the class are Ryan, retired municipal court judge Edward I. McAuliffe and W. H. Thorpe, still active in legal work in Redwood City.

Byrl R. Salsman, now a justice of the court of appeals, also was an alumni.

After coming to Menlo Park, Judge Ryan married the former DeVere DuPont, daughter of one of Menlo Park's early-day merchants.

Concerning his decision to retire at the minimum age, the jurist explains that it's largely a matter of congestion and, with the exploding population in the area, there appear to be more crimes of violence than there used to be.

"Maybe it's a matter of having all these wars and threats of wars," the judge speculates. "But our criminal calendar keeps getting longer, and the charges seem to be getting more complicated, too.

"Even Menlo Park is showing the problems of growth. "When I came there, the police department consisted of three men including the chief. Now it has about 30 members."

Concerning his own future plans, Judge Ryan says he plans to do some traveling. He and his wife will probably maintain their home in Redwood City, where his daughter and two grandchildren also reside.

Testimonial:

DINNER SET

A testimonial dinner for retiring South San Mateo County Municipal Judge Edward J. Ryan has been scheduled to be held Sept. 6, beginning at 7:30 p.m., at the San Mateo Elks Club.

Reservations may be obtained by calling co-chairmen Daniel J. Creedon or Dan R. Love.

ATTEND CONFERENCE

Pollie Reeves and Martha Willie of the Woodside-Atherton 4-H Club and John O'Mara and Paul Ditzen of the Portola Valley 4-H Club were to be among county representatives attending the annual State 4-H Leadership conference at Davis this week.

Pryce Faces 2 Manslaugher Charges—CHP

A pair of manslaughter charges will face 21-year-old William M. Pryce when he is well enough to leave Sequoia Hospitol, the California Highway Patrol said this week.

Pryce, 2124 University Ave., East Palo Alto, was the driver of a car that crashed on La Honda Road on Aug. 12.

Two East Palo Alto teenagers, James Chaplin, 16, 2194 University Ave. ,and Irene Wichman, 16, 569 Runnymede St., died in Sequoia Hospital of head injuries suffered in the accident.

Five other local youngsters were injured.

Pryce had been driving "at excessive speed," the highway patrol said, when his car rolled over. His driving license had been suspended last month.

Chaplin died on Monday, Aug. 13, and Miss Wichman succumbed to her injuries on Tuesday, Aug. 14.

Funeral services for Miss Wichman, a Ravenswood High student, were held on Friday, Aug. 17, at St. Francis of Assisi Catholic Church, East Palo Alto.

Many of her school friends, including some who had been in the accident car, attended the rites.

She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wichman, and six brothers and sisters. They are William, Henen, Philip, Caroline and Jane Wichman of East Palo Alto and Mrs. Annie Farnden of Hawaii.

A Compromise:

County, City Work on New Proposal for Drain District

A compromise has been proposed that will leave a Menlo Park area out of the proposed East Palo Alto drainage district — but will allow the O'Connor Street-Euclid Avenue section to hook into the district system for a $17,500 connection fee

The San Mateo County Supervisors have accepted the compromise "in principle," County Engineer Don Wilson said.

And Menlo Park City Councilmen said Tuesday night that they will go along with the new plan. City Engineer Edwin Smith had recommended approval. However, formal action must wait until the county has drafted and submitted a detailed agreement to the city.

Smith, Wilson and Lawrence Brian, the civil engineer who drew up the original drainage proposal, hammered out the compromise at a recent meeting.

The original district boundaries included a section of Menlo Park in the vicinity of O'Connor Street, Euclid Aeenue and Byers Drive. Storm water runoff from this area drains into a basin which has its low point in East Palo Alto.

Menlo Park city councilmen, however, accepted Smith's contention that the city could do the same job for the O'Connor-Euclid area at two-thirds of the cost which would be charged to residents there if the area went into the district. He estimated that East Palo Alto district assessments would be about $31,000.

Under the compromise, the Menlo Park area would be left out if and when the East Palo Alto district is formed. But a "stub" line will be provided for at the city-county boundary.

When the area is ready to provide its own drainage, a separate assessment district would be formed to pay for a $17,500 connection fee to the East Palo Alto district.

Smith said he suggested setting up a connection fee that would be "within the range" of his estimates for a separate drainage system for the area.

Wilson then asked if $17,500 would appear to be acceptable. This, he said, would approximate the cost of a pump and pressure lines to send water into San Francisquito Creek, a sump, electricity bills and future pump maintainnance.

Some kind of surface drainage improvement would be needed, too, Smith said. He said this might consist of three-foot gutters that would move water from the top of the ridge down to the point where the East Palo Alto drainage line would pick it up.

Thus, the total amount which residents of the area would have to raise by assessment would be about $25,000, Smith said.

This is very close to the amount which Smith had predicted as being the cost of installing a separate drainage system.

"Are there any advantages to us," Mayor William R. Lawson asked, "if we agree to this?"

For one thing, Smith said, Menlo Park will have full control over the drainage setup in the O'Connor-Euclid area. It also eliminates the need for the pump, which could have turned into a future maintenance problem, he said.

City Manager John R. Johnson explained that the city will make plans for a connection when and if the East Palo Alto district is formed. When a connection is made, the $17,500 will go to the district from the city in a lump sum. This any the other costs will then be assessed against the affected property owners.

"I think it's too late for the county to do anything about the district this winter," Smith said. If construction is started, it probably would be next spring, he said.

(Wilson said the county is having trouble getting the state to contribute financially to the proposed district. The public hearing which must precede the board of supervisors' decision on forming the district has been held up pending settlement of the financial question, he said.)

Father Implicated With Boy Suspects

Two Palo Alto boys, ages 14 and 15, were booked at Hillcrest juvenile hall last week, after they were caught attempting to scale a fence to swim in Searsville lake, while a man identified as their father, who had apparently driven them to the scene, stood by.

Mrs. Gloria Clapp, one of the operators of the resort, told sheriff's deputies she'd confronted the boys as they attempted to scale the fence at the resort and told their father they'd have to enter and pay regular admission.

The boys were then driven, by their father, to another place along the fence.

Mrs. Clapp's son Daniel, a life guard at the lake caught the boys after a short chase.

Youth Overcome

Firemen Sunday evening were called to use their resuscitator, when a 15-year-old Atherton youth was partly overcome by inhaling gasoline fumes.

They said Wayne Jones, 96 Heather Drive, apparently was attempting to syphon motor fuel for a small tractor, when he was overcome. The resuscitator crew was called at 9:45 p.m.

Trustee Mrs. Beatrice O'Donnell said she agreed with Dr. Mears' long-range views but pointed out the trustees hadn't been apprized of safety problems at the time the budget was being considered in the spring.

Following approval of the restoration of service, the school district administration asked for two resolutions: One to authorize a change in the scheduled hours at Hillview and Encinal schools, and one authorizing the opening of negotiations with Western Greyhound for bus service.

Nevertheless, Richert warned, it appeared impossible to start bus service the first day of school.

One resident, Thomas Huston, said that "if you define improvement as fixing the roadway to its present boundaries, I'm sure none of us would object."

After more discussion reflecting the residents' fears that rebuilding the short stretch of roadway would attract more and faster traffic, Lawson said:

"I can see we're not going to convince you that we don't have some diabolical plan here . . . I'm going to close this discussion."

Carroll Moss, who lives off Bay Road in Atherton, then asked to speak. He said he was "appalled at the attitude of the council, particularly that of the mayor . . . he has tried to pound these people down . . . and belittle their statements."

He accused Lawson of making "completely untrue" representations in the matter.

"I'm not prepared to argue with you," Lawson said "Please sit down."

More heated discussion between the audience and mayor followed. Then councilmen Mike Belangie, Payne and Calloway came to the mayor's defense, saying that they must act in the best interest of the city as a whole.

Ira Bonde, who said he didnt' like the county's defunct plan if it was an attempt to funnel more traffic onto Bay Road, joined the other councilmen in approving the city project.

Word Around the World:

Letter from Pakistan Tells Of 'Far Flung' Subscribers

Perhaps the Menlo Park Recorder's "farthest flung" correspondents are the members of the C. Lloyd Thorpe family who currently reside at Magla, West Pakistan.

The Thorpes, until recently residents of Atherton, are in Pakistan where Thorpe is now city administrator. The town is at the site of the world's largest dam, under construction across the Jhelum River.

"Mrs. Thorpe and daughter Joey, a Menlo-Atherton High School graduate, currently are on a tour of Europe including Scotland, Greece and the Holy Land," Mrs. Thorpe writes, before joining Mr. Thorpe in West Pakistan.

"Joey will return via the Orient to Pomona College in Claremont where she will begin her junior year," the letter goes on.

Mrs. Thorpe's subscription to the Recorder was presented by the executive members of the Parents' Forum of the Menlo Park Presbyterian Church as a "going away" present.

As far as being able to keep up with happenings in the home town, Mrs. Thorpe concludes, "I can't tell you how happy we are to have the Recorder."

The Recorder mails several issues overseas each week, some to other newspapers on an exchange basis but many to former Menlo Park residents in the service, or stationed overseas in private business.

Woodside Ups Protest on School Union

Woodside grade school trustees this week have invited those from the Portola Valley and Las Lomitas districts to a meeting on September 12 to discuss the possible unification of the three districts.

The Woodside board made the move in strengthening their position against a county committee preference for a single unified district in the Sequoia Union High School District area.

In doing so, they adopted a resolution censuring the County Committee on School District Organization for not giving full consideration to a possible merger of the Woodside, Portola Valley and Las Lomitas districts.

Portola Valley trustees previously have gone on record against the proposal for a single unified district in the Sequoia area.

County Planners Set Conditions

San Mateo county planning commissioners included a number of conditions when they for a site between Alpine Road and San Francisquito Creek last week.

The subdivision is to be known as Sneckner Court. It's located just south of the Menlo Park city limits. A total of eight lots will be created.

The commission said that the area must be annexed to a fire district or form its own. And drainage on the property must be improved to the satisfaction of the county engineer.

Chamber of Commerce Reviews Accomplishments of Past Year

Updating of the city's business climate survey and participating in the openings of 22 firms were among key items of achievement of the Menlo Park Chamber of Commerce during the 1961-62 fiscal year.

This was indicated this week in an "achievement summary" report published by the C of C, and quoting its president, Edward J. Sullivan.

The accomplishments of the year, Sullivan said, were all made in keeping with the Chamber's policy of improving business and building a better community.

Sullivan added that publication of the summary was a phase of the Chamber's continuing policy of keeping the membership informed of activities.

Though over-all community projects make up one category of endeavor and although the Chamber concentrates on encouraging retail merchant activities, one of the major categories in which it works is "civic," according to Sullivan.

The latter type of program includes cooperation with city officials in a street tree-planting and beautification program, work with the city planning commission and city planner on continuing problems of zoning, study and endorsement of a civic center master plan and endorsement and promotion of the city's community activities bond issue.

The "civic" activities also included support of the volunteer bureau of San Mateo county, assistance to the junior chamber of commerce, support of various annexations to the city and aid to local service clubs.

The Chamber's community long-range planning committee continued to study factors which will influence the future development of Menlo Park, including rapid transit, overlapping public agencies, the effects of flood control and other projects, and the like, the report goes on to say.

'RETAIL' PROJECTS

"Retail" types of achievement during the year included completion of the fourth-year phase of the downtown merchants' five-year Christmas decorations program, sponsorship of a merchants' clinic and setting-up of a "dapid warning system," aid in sponsorship of a Christmas parade and aid to the merchants promotional committee as needed.

The Chamber assisted the League of Women Voters in voter registration campaigns through the year, the report added.

The C of C's transportation groups were active too in urging city acquisition of offstreet parking facilities, seasonal restrictions on offstreet parking that presently exists, continued surveys of downtown parking problems, the report says.

Chamber representatives also have been in attendance at state Division of Highways hearings concerning proposed freeways, and have worked on plans for improvements on El Camino Real.

"Educational" activities of the Chamber have included the establishment of study groups on economics, congressional action and political participation. Among the latter, a 17-session economics discussion group has been among the most successful.

The Chamber also has publicized and supported several area school agency finance measures, and has supported and publicized an adult education course in "individual and family survival."

The Chamber also has worked with area service clubs in sponsorship of several joint projects during the year, Sullivan's report said.

Work Started On Nursery School Building

Construction was started this week on a new nursery school, the Mills Avenue Pre-School, at 2161 Mills Ave.

The pre-school, which will have separate facilities for youngsters from 2½ to four years old and another for older pre-kindergarten children, is expected to be ready for occupancy by mid-October, according to operator Mason Ingram.

The two-unit building will feature radiant heating and separate play areas for children of the two age groups. It will have a capacity of 24 youngsters.

The school will operate for two half-day sessions; in addition to making use of the new modern facilities, Ingram says, the pre-school will have a year-long program of field trips.

Patrons of the school will be transported between it and their homes by bus.

Local Sergeant In Missile Test

PATRICK AFB, Fla.—Technical Sergeant Robert S. McElwain of Menlo Park participated in the first successful firing of the Atlas "F" missile during operation Blue Suit at Cape Canaveral last week.

Sgt. McElwain, an Air Force missile instrument technician with the Aerospace Test Wing here, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Earl McElwain, 911 Timothy Lane, Menlo Park.

He and his wife, Marlena, have two children.

The purpose of the Blue Suit test series is to test the missile's reliability and demonstrate the Air Force's ability to launch its own weapons systems.

Thomas Quinn In ROTC Class

Cadet Quinn is active in the ROTC program at Georgetown University, Washington, D. C.

The 20-year-old cadet is a 1959 graduate of Bellarmine College Preparatory School, San Jose.

LOCKED IN BATHROOM

Sunday morning Joseph P. Cancilla, 1½ years old, locked himself in the bathroom at his parents' home at 307 Beresford Ave. His mother, Mrs. Marie Cancilla, called the firemen at 10:36 a.m. and they liberated the tot by taking the screen off a window and climbing in.

FENCE SCORCHED

A fence at 150 Elena Ave. was scorched, the firemen reported, by a fire discovered Sunday at 2:50 a.m. Firemen said residents suspected the fire had smouldered for a long time, and might have been set the day before by children playing with matches.

Tax Planning To Be Topic Of Course Here

An evening course in "Tax Planning for Real Estate Transactions" will be offered in Menlo Park by University of California Extension beginning in September.

Designed for licensed real estate brokers and for qualiifed persons in related fields, the course is presented with the cooperation of the Menlo-Atherton Board of Realtors. Teacher for the course is Harold E. Rogers Jr., attorney for the firm of Nichols and Rogers, San Francisco.

Class meetings are scheduled for 7:15 p.m. Wednesday evenings at Menlo College, beginning Sept. 12.

Further information about the course and about other classes being offered in Palo Alto, Redwood City, and nearby Peninsula cities may be obtained from University Extension, University of California, Berkeley 4, or from the Menlo Park-Atherton realty board.

Local Author To Give Lecture Here Tonight

Dr. Rex Harlow, Menlo Park author, this week, will be the speaker at a meeting tonight at 8 p.m. at the Green room Menlo Park civic center, at which he will review a recent article he has written on the subject, "Retirement."

Dr. Harlow, who resides at 310 Linfield Drive, is a former professor at Stanford University. He wrote an autobiography several years ago and, more recently, has written a series of articles updating it.

Neighbors heard of the articles, he says, and have asked him to make them subjects of a topic of a series of discussion meeting.

A group known as the Forum Oragnization Committee has been formed to sponsor tonight's program and a subsequent series. Chairman is Karl Shattuck of Menlo Park.

Other members of the committee include Dr. Arnold Manson, Mrs. Carl Helfenberger, Mrs. J. A. Tantet and Mrs. Bertram F. Mokros.

The projected series will be "a forum on experiences in living," organizers claim.

Commission Studies Woodland Plan

Recommendations of the San Mateo County planning staff regarding future zoning and development of the Woodland Avenue - University Avenue-Bayshore Freeway "triangle" are in the hands of planning commission members.

The commission will study the report and expects to set a public hearing on the proposals shortly. Affected property owners will be notified of the hearing date.

High School Signup Dates

Prospective new students at south county high schools this week were again reminded of registration dates at area high schools.

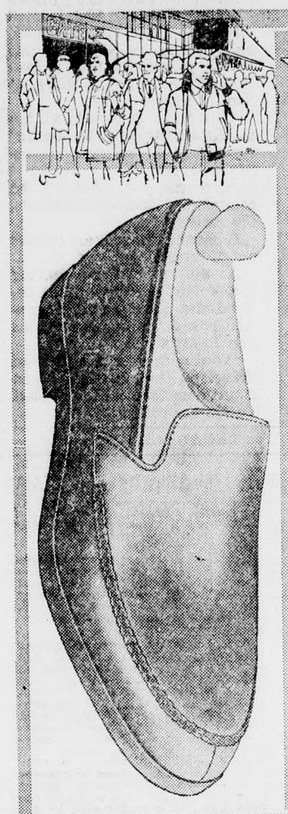

Menlo-Atherton High School is to begin registering students new to the area at 9 a.m. today.

Woodside and Ravenswood High School will register new pupils on Tuesday, Sept. 4, beginning at 9 a.m.

As We See It:

The Roughest Weeks Of Summer Are Here

Once again, we've come by a way that we do not know to the last two weeks of vacation.

These are the weeks that everybody dislikes; those who are apt to run out of money, probably have done so; the youngsters are certain they've done everything that there is to do and parents might be getting just a little bored with the whole thing.

It's the season the police and firemen dislike most, too, because some of those young people who have run out of things to do will start to demonstrate a considerable originality and possibly some destructiveness in thinking up new ways to be naughty. When they get sufficiently successful, the public emergency workers can be counted on to be called in.

But cheer up. This too will pass away.

———o———

'Packing the House' Not Good Form

Last week and also Tuesday night, an interested group of parents "packed the house" at the Menlo Park School District Board of Trustees' meeting, in an effort to get the board to change its mind regarding the curtailment of bus transportation.

That they succeeded in their aim was due, not to their "packing" and pressure, but to the honest and cogent arguments rationally presented by one of their spokesmen. The threats and demands of other speakers, we suspect, did nothing but make achievement of their goal more difficult.

But first, make no mistake: This newspaper endorses public participation in the activities of the many boards and commissions that meet here. More people should attend of the meetings of the Menlo Park and Atherton city councils, the area's various school boards, the planning commissions and other groups which govern the spending of public money. The more the merrier; from such a cadre of interested citizens the governing boards can extract new points of view, information otherwise not available, and might possibly also in time find candidates to contest for places on the boards involved. This is all to the good.

Now, let's get back to "house packing."

At both meetings, 50 to 75 parents showed up, all favoring reinstatement of bus transportation in the school district. The tenor of their plaint appeared to be, "all of us here favor restitution of transportation. In keeping with democratic principles, you'd better restore it." Some spokesmen added the rather childish threat that support of future school district finance measures would be withheld if the house packers didn't get the action they wanted.

In the first place, 75 parents isn't really an impressive group. There are 1600 families represented by students in Menlo Park School District. Figuring that only one parent from each interested family with children was able to make it to the Aug. 21 meeting – because the other had to baby-sit – we find that only 75 families out of the 1600 in the district were interested enough to form a pressure group. Figure also that there are about 10,000 registered voters in the school district, and you find that the 75 parents can't describe themselves as representing a majority of anything.

Concerning their expressed opinion that "since all of us in the audience favor restitution of bus service, you'd better restore it in keeping with democratic principles," we'd like to point out that something has gone wrong in the education of people who think that acquiescence to the opinions of those who sit nearest the board's table and who shout the loudest is "democratic." And furthermore, the public boards and bodies actually operate in accordance with republican principles, not misdescribed "democratic" ones.

It's a sad commentary on the education visited on members of the older generation, when one realizes that although most adults in this community are college educated, they seem never to have been taught the basic principle of American government: When you elect an official you delegate to him certain powers of decision; you can attempt to enlighten him if you want him to make a specific change in his point of view; you can recall him for cause, such as insanity or criminality; or you can elect a more malleable personality the next time around. But once elected the school board member, city councilman or what have you has to make his own decisions

An elected official who is so vague in his convictions that he'll change his mind because a handful of people tell him to, probably isn't the man you want for the long haul. Last week there were 50 people petitioning for bus transportation; next week or next month, one could probably assemble a delegation of similar size to plug for classroom Sanskrit lessons, classes in use of power tools, critical perusal of McGuffy Readers on upper grade levels, or any one of the thousand and one fads

Summarizing then, it might be observed that the present budget of $623 per pupil per year probably isn't too much to spend for an elementary school education – provided, of course, the youngsters learn more about civics, responsibility of attitude at public meetings, participation in public affairs and divorcement of the emotional from the factual, than some of their "elders and betters" seem to have been taught.

County Comment

County Tax Rate Setting Draws Near

By FLOYD F. McCUE
Editor and Publisher
Redwood City Star-Advertiser

The San Mateo county board of supervisors can be expected to set the 1962-63 tax rate any day now, but according to County Manager E. Robert Stalleings th rate will be lowered only one cent this year! Both the board and manager had been predicting a reduction of two cents or more, but several things changed the picture suddenly.

Stallings points out that the reduction in public utility assessments by the state board of equalization was one of the main reasons the tax rate could not be cut more.

The county had expected a normal increase of about 6 percent but instead the state board came up with only a boost of 1.8 per cent. Figuring that one cent on the tax rate raises approximately $80,000 in tax revenue, the lower valuations on PG&E, Pacific Telephone, Southern Pacific and other utilities really hurts.

Other factors enter into the tax rate picture, the county manager points out.

The county had to put $600,000 in this year's budget to finance the purchase of the Coyote Point junior college land for recreation purposes.

We say "had to" because otherwise the land would have gone to private developers and spoiled a master recreation plan for that area.

Other funds were required to prepare tentative plans for the Hall of Justice addition that the voters failed to approve. More funds were necessary, due to the result, to remodel the old doomed courthouse to provide more space for courts and other offices. These all add up to a pretty figure so it can be figured that the tax cut might have gone to two or three cents without these upsets in preliminary figuring.

Even the one-cent tax reduction will put San Mateo county in an enviable position once again. Almost every county in the Bay Area is preparing healthy tax increases.

This will be the fourth year in a row that San Mateo county will have CUT the tax rate. Records at hand do not show another county with that mark. Immediately the cry goes up "Yeah, but look at our assessments!" Well, let's take a look at the assessment picture.

As has been announced, San Mateo county will be forced to levy a special tax estimated at 10 cents per $100 assessed valuation. This is a state law that provides a county that fails to assess up to the statewide average of 25 per cent will lose state school apportionment funds and those funds must be made up in a direct county-wide property tax.

The county this year will lose between $800,000 and $900,000 in state apportionments, thus the special 10-cent tax. Last year the special tax was seven cents.

The State Board of Equalization rates county assessing standards on an inverted scale. A rating of 100 is equivalent to the state average; below 100 represents assessments above the average; above 100 means a county is not assessing up to the state level.

How do we fare with nearby counties in this respect? Terrible, to say the least. San Mateo county, according to the state board of equalization, has been rated for three years over the 100 average: 111, 107 and 112. Santa Clara county, where many people think assessments are lower than here, is rated 98, 90 and 89. Marin county has 96, 107 and 107. Contra Costa county is closer to this county with 108, 105 and 104. Alameda is 98, 98 and 98.

Clyde Curry of the county schools office points out that San Mateo county just doesn't lose the state apportionments, but those funds go to counties who assess higher than the state average. Curry asks, "Which is better: to raise property assessments or have a special school tax?"

We think Ralph Woodman our county assessor, answered an important question about raising assessments in one of our recent columns. He pointed out that many of the larger counties assess industrial and commercial firms at somewhere near 50 per cent of value, while cutting home property valuation to far below 20 per cent.

This puts the assessor in good with the voters and brings the average up over state requirements.

Woodman said he assesses a afir, equal basis for all properties and will continue to do so.

for News TELLS US:

Police Officer Richard Donohoe, who rides the three-wheeler in downtown Menlo Park, has his own index of relative prosperity.

"I can tell how things are going by the way the parking spaces get filled up," he says.

But he admits that this isn't foolproof all the time.

"The best season for guessing how things are going is during the pre-Christmas shopping season."

The state's border control of importation of plants and fruits this week cheated Menlo Park out of a couple of dandy museum poieces.

Mrs. Mildred Plaisted, who works at the Menlo Park School District central office, vacationed in Ohio where her family lives, and was planning to bring home with her a genuine "water wand from the banks of the Wabash" and an apple core from one of the fruits of a tree planted by Johnny Appleseed — whose grave is somewhere near where she was visiting at Fort Wayne.

Considerations of the state of California's views of such importations deterred her, however.

Nevertheless, she managed to bring along a newspaper feature on water witchery and directions on how best to locate underground streams with a forked stick. She also took some photographs of a "Johnny Appleseed Park" and the grave of the early-day planter.

At least one north county recreation department — San Mateo's — is sponsoring twist classes for adults.

Domino buffs from all over have been invited to compete in an Oct. 6 "Domino Day" playoff for the children's hospital of the East Bay, to be held at Oakland's Jack London Hall—just in case you thought the sports was dying out.

Atherton Police Chief Leroy Hubbard will be off on a fishing trip in the near future. And he, like Volpiano, is equally mysterious about the exact site.

Hubbard, however, couldn't be pressed for the general locale. He just ain't talking.

That Time of Year Again

30 Years Ago:

Menlo Park Had Crime Of Violence

The files of the Menlo Park Recorder reveal that, 30 years ago this week, the following items, here reproduced exactly as first published, were news in the young community.

August 26, 1932:

Apparently crazed by dope, an unidentified gunman armed with two automatic pistols 'shot up" the Chili Hut, located on the highway in Menlo Park, early yesterday, wounded one of the patrons in the leg and then forced him to drive to San Francisco

With a gun in each hand, the bandit stalked into "Chiliville" restaurant a few minutes before midnight.

"Give me your money!" he commanded William Edmonds, the owner.

Edmonds took four dollars out of the cash register

As the gunman was leaving Frank Payan of Palo Alto entered the place and the gunman poked one of his weapons into Payan's ribs.

"You're driving me to San Francisco Understand?" When Payan objected, the bandit shot him in the calf of the leg.

The City Council of the City of Menlo Park, California, hereby invites sealed proposals for the construction of a Community Activities Building.

All of said work is to be done at the places and in the particular locations of the forms, sizes, and dimensions and of the materials as shown and delineated upon the drawings and specifications made therefor and approved by said City Council, and on file in the office of Kingsford Jones, architect for said structure, and also on file with the City Manager of said City, City Hall, Menlo Park, California, and to which reference is hereby expressly made for a more particular description of the work to be done and for further particulars.

All proposals shall be accompanied by a certified check payable to the order of the City of Menlo Park, amounting to ten per cent (10%) of the proposal, or by a bond in said amount and payable to said City, the bond shall be issued by a recognized Surety Company qualified to issue such a bond. Said check shall be forfeited or said bond shall become payable to said City in case the bidder despositing the same does not within five (5) days after written notice that the contract has been awarded to him, enter into a contract with the City; said successful bidder shall deliver to the City a good and sufficient faithful performance bond, and a labor and material bond, in the manner, and amount, and to the extent required by law, and as specified in the herein-mentioned drawings and specifications.

The general prevailing rates of per diem wages to be paid to the various craftsmen and laborers required to construct the improvement herein mentioned and described, in and for said City, is contained in and made a part of the specifications for said work and improvement hereto described, and, is likewise, as approved by the City Council of the City of Menlo Park, on file, both in the office of the City Manager, City Hall, Menlo Park, and in the office of Kingsford Jones, architect, Menlo Park, California; reference is hereby made to the aforesaid wage scale as contained in said specifications, for further particulars, and the same is incorporated herein and made a part of this notice.

Copies of drawings and specifications and proposal sheets may be obtained in the office of Kingsford Jones, 615 Menlo Avenue, Menlo Park, California. A deposit of $50.00 per set of drawings and specifications is required.

Said sealed proposals shall be delivered to the City Clerk of said City of Menlo Park on or before eight o'clock P. M. on the 25th day of September, 1962, said time being at least ten (10) days from the time of the first publication of this notice. Proposals will be publicly opened, examined and declared on said day and hour; the City Council reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

NOTICE INVITING SEALED PROPOSALS

Pursuant to Resolution No. 1719 adopted by the City Council of the City of Menlo Park on the 28th day of August, 1962, authorizing work to be done and directing this notice to be made, said Council hereby invites sealed proposals or bids for the improvement of Hamilton Avenue, MCS Project No. 75.

All of said work is to be done at the places and in the particular locations, of the forms, sizes and dimensions and of the materials, and to the lines and grades, and at the elevations as shown and delineated upon the plans and specifications made theretor and on file in the office of the City Clerk of said City and to which reference is hereby expressly made for more particular description of the work to be done and for further particulars.

Payments will be made in cash by said City to the Contractor on itemized estimates duly certified and approved by the City Engineer and said City Council, based on labor and materials incorporated into said work during the preceding month by the Contractor, but said City shall retain ten per cent (10%) of the amount of each such estimates, and the accumulation of such said amounts so retained from said progressive payments will be paid to said Contractor thirty-five (35) days after the completion and acceptance of said work by said City Engineer and said City Council.

Notice is hereby given that this Council incorporated into said Resolution No. 1719 the determination of the general prevailing per diem wage rate to be paid to the various craftsmen and laborers required to construct said improvements, a copy of which wage scale is contained in and made a part of the specifications for said work, to which reference is hereby made for a full and detailed specification thereof.

All proposals or bids shall be accompanied by a certified check payable to the order of City Clerk of said City, amounting to ten per cent (10%) of the bid or by bond in said amount and payable to said City, signed by the bidder and two sureties who shall testify before any officer competent to administer an oath in double said amount and over and above all statutory exemptions. Said check shall be forfeited or said bond shall become payable to said City in case the bidder depositing the same does not, within the fifteen days after written notice that the contract has been awarded to him, enter into a contract with the City, the faithful performance of which shall be secured by an undertaking in the amount of fifty per cent (50%) of the amount so bid, with surety satisfactory to said Council, and which shall be accompanied by a labor and material bond in a sum equal to fifty per cent (50%) of the amount of said bid, under the provisions of Title one, Division five, Chapter three, of the Government Code.

Copies of plans and specifications and bid sheets may be obtained from the office of Edwin H. Smith, City Engineer, 1914 Spring Street, Redwood City, California.

A deposit of ten dollars ($10.00) per set of plans and specifications is required as a guarantee that they will be returned to him in good condition not later than forty eight hours after bids have been publicly opened.

Said sealed proposals shall be delivered to the City Clerk of said City on or before 8:00 o'clock P. M. of the 25th day of September, 1962 in the Council Chambers, City Hall, Menlo Park, California, said time being at least ten days from the time of the first publication of this notice. Bids will be publicly opened, examined and declared on said day at the hour of 8:00 o'clock P. M.

Notice of any such redemption shall be given by publication of notice thereof once a week for two (2) successive calendar weeks in a newspaper of general circulation printed and published in the City and County of San Francisco, State of California, the first publication of which shall be at least thirty (30) but not more than sixty (60) days prior to the date fixed for such redemption. After the date fixed for such redemption, if the City shall have duly published notice of such redemption and shall have provided funds available for the payment of the principal of and interest on the bonds so called for redemption, together with the premium then due thereon, interest on such bonds shall thereafter cease.

INTEREST RATE:

Maximum six per cent (6%) per annum, payable annually the first year on October 1, 1963, and thereafter semiannually on April 1 and October 1 in each year. Bidders must specify the rate of interest which the bonds hereby offered for sale shall bear. Bidders will be permitted to bid different rates of interest and to split rates irrespective of the maturities of said bonds, except that the maximum differential between the lowest and highest coupon rates named in any bid shall not exceed ½ of 1% and except that no bond may bear more than one rate of interest or more than one coupon to evidence any interest payment. The interest rate or rates stated in each bid must be in multiples of 1/8 or 1/20 of 1% per annum, payable as aforesaid.

PAYMENT:

Both principal and interest payable in lawful money of the United States of America at the office of the Treasurer of the City of Menlo Park, Menlo Park, California.

EXECUTION AND REGISTRATION:

Coupon bonds will be issued by said City. Said bonds will be executed by the manual signature of at least one official authorized to execute the bonds. Said bonds are registrable only as to both principal and interest.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE:

Said bonds are authorized by vote of two-thirds of the qualified voters voting at a special municipal bond election for the purpose of authorizing bonds for a new community activities building for the City of Menlo Park.

SECURITY:

Said bonds are general obligations of the City of Menlo Park, and said City has power and is obligated to levy ad valorem taxes for the payment of said bonds and the interest thereon upon all property within said City subject to taxation by said City (except certain intangible personal property, which is taxable at limited rates) without limitation of rate or amount.

TAX EXEMPT STATUS:

In the event that prior to the delivery of the bonds the income received by private holders from bonds of the same type and character shall be declared to be taxable under any Federal Income Tax laws, either by the terms of such laws or by ruling of a Federal Income Tax authority or official which is followed by the Internal Revenue Service, or by decision of any Federal Court, the successful bidder may, at his option, prior to the tender of said bonds by the City, be relieved of his obligation under the contract to purchase the bonds and in such case the deposit accompanying his bid will be returned.

LEGAL OPINION:

The legal opinion of Messrs. Orrick, Dahlquist, Herrington & Sutcliffe, of San Francisco, California, approving the validity of said bonds, will be furnished to the successful bidder without charge. A copy of the legal opinion, certified by the official in whose office the original is filed, will be printed on each bond without charge to the successful bidder.

TERMS OF SALE

HIGHEST BID:

The bonds will be awarded to the highest bidder, considering the interest rate or rates specified and the premium offered, if any. The highest bid will be determined by deducting the amount of the premium bid (if any) from the total amount of interest which the City would be required to pay from the date of said bonds to the respective maturity dates at the coupon rate or rates specified in the bid, and the award will be made on the basis of the lowest net interest cost to the City. The lowest net interest cost shall be computed between the dates aforesaid on a 360-day year basis. The purchaser must pay accrued interest from the date of the bonds to the date of delivery. The cost of printing the bonds will be borne by the City.

RIGHT OF REJECTION:

The City Council reserves the right, in its discretion, to reject any and all bids and to waive any irregularity or informality in any bid.

PROMPT AWARD:

The City Council will take action awarding the bonds or rejecting all bids not later than 24 hours after the expiration of the time herein prescribed for the receipt of proposals unless such time of award is waived by the successful bidder. Prompt notice of the award will be given to the successful bidder.

PROMPT DELIVERY:

Delivery of said bonds will be made to the successful bidder at the office of the Treasurer in Menlo Park, California, as soon as the bonds can be prepared, which it is estimated will be within 30 days from the date of sale thereof, but not prior to the date of the bonds.

RIGHT OF CANCELLATION:

The successful bidder shall have the right, at his option, to cancel the contract of purchase if the City shall fail to execute the bonds and tender the same for delivery within sixty (60) days from the date of sale thereof, and in such event the successful bidder shall be entitled to the return of the deposit accompanying his bid.

FORM OF BID:

All bids must be for not less than all of the bonds hereby offered for sale, and for not less than the par value thereof and accrued interest to date of delivery. Each bid, together with bidder's check, must be enclosed in a sealed envelope addressed to the City Council of the City of Menlo Park, California, and endorsed "Proposal for City of Menlo Park 1962 Community Activities Building Bonds."

BID CHECK:

With each bid must be submitted a certified check or cashier's check for $10,000 drawn on a bank or trust company transacting business in the State of California, payable to the order of the Treasurer of the City of Menlo Park to secure the City from any loss resulting from the failure of the bidder to comply with the terms of his bid. In addition, bidders are requested (but not required) to supply an estimate of the total net interest cost to the City on the basis of their respective bids, which shall be considered as informative only and not binding on either the bidder or the City. Checks of the unsuccessful bidders will be returned by the City by mail upon the award of the bonds. No interest will be paid upon the deposit made by the successful bidder.

OFFICIAL STATEMENT:

The City has prepared an Official Statement relating to the bonds, copies of which will be furnished upon request to the City Clerk or to Schwabacher & Co., 100 Montgomery Street, San Francisco, California, the City's financing consultants.

There is no controversy or litigation pending or threatened concerning the validity of the above issue, the corporate existence of the City or the title of the officers thereof to their respective offices, and the City will furnish to the successful bidder a no-litigation certificate certifying to the foregoing as of and at the time of the delivery of the bonds.

Rosa Ferrando

Funeral services were held yesterday for Mrs. Rosa Marie Ferrando, who died unexpectedly at the Woodside home of her daughter Saturday.

Mrs. Ferrando has made her home for 50 years in Redwood City. She was stricken while visiting her daughter, Mrs. Julia Rolla, at Mrs. Rolla's home at 150 Summerhill Lane. She had lived with the latter family for the past several years. Mrs. Ferrando was a charter member of the Italian Catholic Federation, Regina Coeli, No. 6, and Sons of Italy Galileo Galelei Lodge, both of Redwood City.

Besides her daughter, she is survived by a son, Eno Ferrando of Redwood City, two brothers and two sisters and five grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted from the Redwood Chapel, 847 Woodside Road in Redwood City, with Requiem Mass at St. Pius Church.

Interment was at the family plot at Holy Cross Cemetery in Menlo Park.

Mrs. Helen Cunha

Mrs. Helen Veronica Cunha died at Palo Alto-Stanford Hospital Friday, after suffering an apparent heart attack at her home, 759 Roble Ave.

A native of St. Louis, Mo., Mrs. Cunha was 68; she was the widow of the late Edward Cunha, attorney whose practice was in San Francisco, and who died in 1954.

Mrs. Cunna was the mother of Russell A. Moir of Burlingame and Dr. W. E. Cunha of Hillsborough. She is also survived by five grandchildren.

She was a member of the St. Raymond's Church Ladies' Sodality, the Peninsula Catholic Women's Group and the Stanford Mothers' Club.

Funeral services were conducted Monday from the Johnston Colonial Mortuary at 650 Live Oak Ave., with Requiem Mass at St. Raymond's Church. Interment was at Holy Cross Cemetery, Colma.

Ralph S. Duns

Ralph S. Duns of Menlo Park former controller of Crown Zellerbach Corp. of San Francisco, was buried following funeral services yesterday. He died Monday at Palo Alto-Stanford Hospital after a long illness, at the age of 70.

Duns had made his final home at 44 Willow Road for the past eight years. A native of England, he had retired from his post with the paper company five years ago.

Survivors include his wife Flora, of Menlo Park; a daughter, Mrs. W. Gowans of Seattle and sons John and David Duns, both of San Rafael. Seven grandchildren also survive.

Funeral services were private, and were conducted from the chapel of Roller and Hapgood, 980 Middlefield Road in Palo Alto. Interment was private.

The family has indicated that contributions to favorite charities are preferred as memorials.

* * *

M. Franceschini

Funeral services were held Tuesday for Mario Franceschini, who died Saturday at Palo Alto-Stanford hospital at the age of 59.

Franceschini, who made his final home at 227 Park Lane, was a vice-president of the Bank of America, with offices in San Francisco. He had been affiliated with the bank for 42 years.

Surviving him are his wife, Josephine and a daughter, Mrs. Gloria Butler.

Funeral services were conducted from the chapel of Valente, Marini, Perata & Co., with Requiem Mass at the Church of St. Peter and St. Paul in San Francisco.

Laura Sandy

Mrs. Laura F. Sandy, 70 year-old widow of San Francisco real estate man and department store owner George Sandy, died Monday at Palo Alto Hospital.

A stroke was the immediate cause of death but Mrs. Sandy had been in ill health for some time. She made her final home at 133 Atherton Ave.

Mrs. Sandy was a member of the Fireside chapter 440, Order of the Eastern Star, and the Daughters of the Nile.

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday from the chapel of Halsted and Co., 1123 Sutter St., in San Francisco, under the auspices of the OES.

Interment was at Cypress Lawn Memorial Park, Colma.

Map Approved For Sharon Apts.

The tentative map of the "high-rise" apartment development in the Sharon Heights area received Menlo Park Planning Commission approval Monday night.

Next, the planners must check architecture of the buildings. This will be followed by submission of a final record of survey map of the apartment site. The apartments will be developed on an "island" in the middle of the Sharon Heights golf course.

'At Home' in Ladera:

Co-ed from Rhodes Is Woodside High School Exchange Student

A girl with the euphonious name of Calliope Mylona is Woodside High School's one foreign exchange student for the coming year.

More popularly known as "Popi" (pronounced like the flower), the dark-haired 16-year-old hails from the island of Rhodes, sun-drenched land which became part of Greece in 1947.

Popi thinks the climate and natural landscape of Ladera, her new home, are "just like Rhodes." But the similarity ends there.

Her home in Rhodes, the island's capital, is blazing white and severely rectangular, with none of the exterior wood that so characterizes local homes. And the main industry, pottery, makes for a far slower pace and economy than exist here.

Popi's Ladera parents are the Spencer Duckworths of 171 Mimosa Way. As an American Field Service exchange student, she'll stay with them during the next nine months while attending Woodside as a senior. She'll be accompanied by the Duckworth daughters, Janet 17, and Gail, 14.

Popi was one of 750 exchange students who arrived at New York on Aug. 7 aboard the Seven Seas, passenger liner used exclusively for the AFS operation. And as could be expected of a sunny islander, she didn't like New York for its bigness, its grayness, and the rain that happened to be falling at the time.

Back home in Rhodes, Mrs. Mylona was congratulatory — but, like a normal mother, unhappy to see her one daughter leave home for the first time. Popi has two younger brothers who'll help keep the home fires burning.

Her father, however, shouldn't have too many qualms about her long trek. He hails from Egypt, where Popi was born and spends a good deal of his time trotting around the world as a chief engineer in the Greek merchant marine.

ANOTHER EXCHANGE FEATURE TO COME

Owing to lack of space in this issue, a story concerning Fulvio Cristiani, exchange student from Italy, will be printed next week.—ed.

B of A Appoints Woodsider To New Post

A Bank of America vice-president who resides in Woodside has been appointed senior trust officer in charge of statewide administration of the bank's trust activities, it was announced this week.

He is Robert T. Shinkle.

Shinkle also was named secretary of the general trust committee. He moves up from the trust department's northern California division which he has headed as a vice-president and trust officer at the San Francisco head office for the past two years.

Shinkle has been with the bank for the past 14 years, holding positions as assistant counsel, Washington representative, vice-president-counsel and vice-president-trust officer. A graduate of Yale University law school, he was associated with a New York City law firm before joining the bank.

Active in professional organizations, Shinkle is chairman of the San Francisco Bar Association Foundation committee and a member of the public relations committees of the San Francisco and California Bar Associations, and co-chairman of the placement committee of the Yale Law School Alumni Association of Northern California.

He resides with his wife at 538 Eleanor Drive.

Election Advance:

Voter Registration Deputies Listed as Deadline Nears

"Approximately only three weeks remain for those persons not registered or those not properly registered, to register and become eligible to vote at the Nov. 6 General Election," advised County Clerk John A. Bruning today.

The last day to register, or if you have moved, to correct your registration for the Nov. 6 General Election is Thursday, Sept. 13.

Registration qualifications are: Citizenship; age 21 or over; one year's residence in the state, 90 days in the county and 54 days in the precinct prior to the date of the election.

In addition to the Election-Registration Department in the Hall of Justice and Records in Redwood City, and at the offices of all city clerks, over 490 registration deputies are conveniently located throughout the county to take voters' registrations.

The following list includes the names and locations of those deputies which would be of interest to residents of this area:

Adult School Opening Near; New Courses Are Slated

Preparations were being completed this week for the opening of the Menlo-Atherton Adult Evening School's fall term, to begin Sept. 11 and to continue through Dec. 7.

Several new courses are included in the program, in addition to courses which are presented every year, according to C. C Wyatt, principal.

Many of the courses are "women's interest" courses but the majority of those to be presented are of universal appeal, Wyatt went on. (For women's interest courses, see the women's section of this issue of the Recorder.—ed.)

New courses to be given include one titled "Great Britain — a Closer Look"; "Interpersonal Relations" and "Community Chorus," Wyatt said.

The "Great Britain" course will be given by Ronald Collis, who in previous years has presented a course on Europe. The 10-week course starts Thursday, Sept. 13 and will feature lectures about England, illustrated with pictures and recordings.

Collis, a native of England, is a meteorologist at Stanford Research Institute.

The "Interpersonal Relations" course will be taught by Mrs. Bernard Schiffman. Its first session will be held Sept. 12 at 7:30 p.m.

The Community Chorus will convene at The Sequoias in Portola Valley; its first session will be on Sept. 12 also.

Registration for any class may be made at the first meeting of it, Wyatt said,. Persons wishing programs may obtain them at the adult school office.

Courses to be given include.

Americanization: Citizenship for the Foreign Born, English for the Foreign Born (beginning and advanced).

Business Education: Income Tax Law, Introduction to Investments, Real Estate, Short Hand, Typing, Office Machines.

Civic Education: Driver Education and Training, Leadership Training.

Industrial Arts: Beginning and Intermediate Electronics (Ravenswood High School), Wood Shop.

Language and Speech Arts: Drama, English Review, Conversational German, Conversational French, Conversational Russian, Conversational Spanish, Writers' Workshop.

There are also several parent education courses being given for parents of pre-school children of various age groups.

Social Science courses, besides Collis', include a world affairs class to meet at The Sequoias.

Extension Units Planned by UC

University of California extension courses for adults begin in early September in seven locations on the Peninsula. Weekly evening classes, many offering university credit, will be given in Atherton, Los Altos, Palo Alto, Redwood City San Jose, San Mateo and Sunnyvale.

Classes will be offered in education, business administration and economics, liberal arts, and engineering and sciences.

A free catalogue is now available from University of California Extension, Berkeley 4, Calif.

Roger C. Morey To Attend Seattle Meet

Roger C. Morey, assistant vice president and branch manager of the Palo Alto Mutual Savings and Loan Association, 650 Santa Cruz Ave., Menlo Park, will attend the fourth annual American Savings and Loan Institute School for Executive Development at the University of Washington in Seattle, Sept. 2 through 14.

The two-year program emphasizes individual developmetn with studies concentrated in the areas of finance, economics, and the behavioral sciences.

The American Savings and Loan Institute is the educational and professional organization for personnel in savings associations and cooperative banks.

HS Graduation Courses Set

Men and women who wish to secure a high school diploma through Sequoia Adult School are advised to plan their programs now, according to Dr. Alan M. Bostwick, principal.

Such persons should see that transcripts of their records at former schools are sent to Sequoia Adult School immediately, and then arrange for an interview with the principal or a counselor.

Interviews are by appointment only. The office, in room 47 of Sequoia High School, presently is open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 12 noon and 12:45 p.m. to 4:45 p.m. The telephone number ois EM 9-0404.

Dr. Olive Mayer Heads Group Visiting Russia

A 10-woman delegation led by Dr. Olive Mayer of Woodside, arrived in Moscow late last week for a three-week visit with Soviet housewives, according to wire service reports.

Dr. Mayer, a mechanical engineer with offices in San Francisco, has been involved in several exchange visits between Russian and American women through the years.

The current visit repays trips made to the United States by Soviet women in 1961 and 1962. Many of the latter were greeted on the Peninsula by women's groups here.

Dr. Mayer says she feels the exchange of visits will increase international understanding.

Hitch to Speak to Aerospacemen

San Francisco section of the Institute of Aerospace Sciences will hold its September dinner meeting Sept. 5 at the Stardust Motel.

Charles Hitch, assistant secretary of defense (comptroller) will be the guest speaker and will discuss "Management of the Defense Program" according to Stanley Moy of Menlo Park.

Sponsorship Search Plagues Teams

By ROGER FREEBERG
(Pinch-hitting for John Curry)

Baseball season is over for most of the area's organized teams from rec department "farm" teams to the town's two semi-pro groups, and as the dust settles back on the infields, the recurrent question of sponsors comes up.

★ ★ ★ ★

Reason, apparently, is that they are fairly expensive to support, with each game requiring the services of two umpires and a long schedule over which these functionaries have to be paid.

Then too, there's the matter of mileage: both the Menlo Park Reds and the Menlo Park Stars have journeyed hundreds of miles to play some of their games.

As things have been going during the past several years, both Red and Pro squad members have had to come up with the not inconsiderable price of motor fuel for some of these trips. They do it, because they like to play baseball but they wish somebody else—noticing that they do a nice job of spreading the name of Menlo Park to other parts of the state—might at least help pick up the tab.

★ ★ ★ ★

The Stars have played weekends and presumably get home after teach game or double-header. But the Recs went on a couple of long road trips, one of which took them to Oregon and the other to San Luis Obispo.

These were all so scheduled that the players had to come up with the price of meals and motels as well as the aforementioned gas and umpire fees.

Taken all in all, the players have been putting their money where their mouths are, when they say they like the game.

Getting sponsors, it appears, gets progressively easier as the players get younger and the Little League teams, playing all-home schedules, with dedicated groups of parents and good organizations behind them, seem to have the least trouble of all in making expenses. But let's get back to the adult teams.

★ ★ ★ ★

One of the things that seems to discourage prospective sponsors of the semi-pros appears to be the proximity of Candlestick Park. Most patrons of the game seem to figure that, if they're going to watch an adult ball game, they might as well see a major league team—even if they have to view it at a long distance and even if it seems capable of only so-so baseball on many a given day.

★ ★ ★ ★

Local businessmen's groups don't seem impressed with the fact that the local teams bring name and fame to Menlo Park. It matters not to say, a merchants' promotion committee, that the Menlo Recs might be playing next week in Marysville.

★ ★ ★ ★

That leaves individual businesses or individual businesses.

The most enthusiastic of these, of course, probably already are sponsoring youth teams—which is all to the good. The only limit to the number of youth teams which should be sponsored is the amount of talent available and it should be used and developed—if for no better purpose than to keep the developing ball players from practicing their talents by throwing rocks at street lights.

★ ★ ★ ★

It has been suggested that the major league clubs might find it rewarding to take a financial interest in the semi-pro teams of the area.

After all, the Menlo Reds in the past three years have sent several players on to the majors, and the Stars might easily do as well—if they were scouted and could find the money to get some of their players to out of town games.

But how one goes about getting money out of the front office of a pro ball team seems thus far to be one bit of information not yet uncovered locally.

★ ★ ★ ★

At any rate, if you've seen them play, you'll agree the local adult teams have some talent, and a lot of fun playing the game, and can provide an entertaining afternoon.

With a little financial support, they might do even better.

Menlo Coach Named

A band-new coaching staff will greet aspiring Menlo School gridmen when they turn out for initial football practice on Monday, Sept. 17.

Head coach Tom Barrie, a 1954 Menlo School graduate, arrived this week to begin reacquainting himself with the campus.

Barrie hopes to uncover some grid talent to replace some of the key men lost via graduation. Menlo, led by quarterback Buck Arbuckle, won an unprecedented third straight Bay Counties Athletic League title under departed coach Bill Wyman.

Wyman is battling the books at Stanford University this year. He's embarked upon graduate studies there.

Barrie will be aided by assistant coach Tom Lagerquist, another not-so-newcomer. Lagerquist matriculated at Menlo. He graduated in 1956 and then went on to Stanford.

Barrie was a Stanford freshman but then went into the service. He concluded his collegiate career at San Francisco State.

Expected to provide the nucleus for Barrie's team are Acorn veterans Alex Johnston, quarterback and team captain; John Robertons, tackle; Bob Bitter, guard; Peter Stacpoole, guard; Tom Huston, fullback; Dave Draper, halfback, and Dave O'Brien, end.

Two 1961 junior varsity men who should help are Richey Johnston, halfback, and Bill Jarrett, lineman.

This year's schedule:

Friday, Oct. 5, St. Vincent of Petaluma at Menlo, 3:15 p.m.

Friday, Oct. 12, open date.

Friday, Oct. 19, California School for the Deaf at Berkeley, away, 3:15 p.m.

Saturday, Oct. 27, Lick-Wilmerding at Menlo (homecoming game), 10:30 a.m.

Friday, Nov. 2, Half Moon Bay High, away, 3:15 p.m.

Friday, Nov. 9, Emery High at Menlo, 3:15 p.m.

Saturday, Nov. 17, San Rafael Military Academy, away, 10:30 a.m.

A steadily increasing enrollment, a highly competent physical education staff and a lot of athletic talent for the coming school year spell out just one thing for Woodside High School athletic director Don Dorfmeier—it's going to be a good year for the Wildcats, be it on the playing field or in PE class.

Woodside could well become the largest of the Sequoia Union High School District's six schools this year, with a projected enrollment of 2200 or 2300. With each of the varsities sporting a good nucleus from last year's clubs with which to build and the bigger enrollment promising more talent to choose from for the lightweight teams, it looks rosy indeed at the Churchill Avenue campus.

"Naturally when we get more material, it helps our athletic teams from the win-loss standpoint," Dorfmeier said, "but the large numbers can stifle you too, if you don't have adequate personnel."

"But I feel we have an excellent coaching staff," he went on, "under whose direction the boys always turn in a representative job."

FLY IN OINTMENT

The only drawback in the coaching picture this year is the present lack of a skipper for the school soccer team. Loss to two coaches to "inside" duties have left the soccer club leaderless for its proposed second year of interscholastic competition. "We may continue it on a playday basis," Dorfmeier stated, "but it looks rather dim right now whether we'll be able to play other schools or not."

Frank Verducci, son of San Francisco State athletic director Joe Verducci and the soccer coach last season, has moved over to mentor the B basketball team, replacing Marv Branstrom.

The other coaching change will feature Dan Silva, another SFS grad who did his practice teaching at Carlmont High and later taught at Tracy, moving in as head frosh-soph baseball and assistant frosh-soph football coach. Joe Greggans, the former lightweight football assistant, will take over cross-country this fall and continue as head track coach in the spring.

Silva will replace Don Hazard as the frosh-soph diamond coach. Both Hazard and Branstrom have taken on additional inside duties as counselors and just don't have the time for coaching anymore.

The rest of the coaching staff remains familiar, with Paul Braunreiter coaching varsity football and wrestling, Troy Ratliffe frosh-soph football, Bill Guttormsen handling varsity, C and D basketball, Boyd Mickley taking the varsity and frosh-soph water polo and varsity, B and C swimming teams and Bob Poole heading the varsity baseball and assisting with the varsity football crews and Hal Wall managing frosh-football and tennis.

COMPETITION

As far as the Sequoia District in particular and the South Peninsula Athletic League in general are concerned, Dorfmeier thinks that the schools talent has leveled out to the point where, this year, at least, any championship winners at any level are going to have to have Lady Luck riding with them.

Woodside, now entering its fifth year of athletics, "doesn't have to take a back seat to anybody," Dorfmeier said. "We should hold up our end of the stick just fine."

As for his varsity sports outlook at this early date, Dorfmeier looks for a split in swimming honors between Woodside and Menlo-Atherton, with Sequoia as a possible dark horse. The baseball and tennis squads should be tough, both with lots of veterans back.

And the track team finally has "arrived," having won its first two meets in three years of competition last spring. "This should be an incentive to the track boys to run varsity instead of trying to step down to Bs as they've been doing," Dorfmeier went on.

The football and basketball teams both have holes shot in them by graduation, but quite likely will hold up their end of the league's balance this year. That means no more of this winless or near-winless thing they went through two and three years ago as fledglings in a league of few dominant powers.

PE PROGRAM GOOD

For physical education for all students, athlete and non-athlete, the Sequoia District in Dorfmeier's opinion and shared by a good many observers, is second to none. Unlike many districts, for instance, the SUHSD requires students to have passing grades in PE, just as in everything else, to be eligible for extracurricular school activities such as organized sports.

Trojan Gridmen Start Workouts

The going gets heavier day by day for the boys who turned out this week for pre-season football conditioning at Ravenswood High School, head coach Howard Costello said this week.

Tomorrow, uniforms and pads will be issued, making contact work possible for the first time. The first four days were spent running and doing calesthenics. Costello and Norm Manoogian, varsity line coach, said some 20 boys turned out on Monday.

The head grid coach said he expected this number to grow

Season Ends This Weekend:

Reds Go for Crown in Uphill Fight

A long, uphill fight for the Menlo Park Reds will be concluded this weekend when they meet Misrack's Sporting Goods of San Francisco for the 1962 El Camino League semipro baseball championship.

The game, or games, will be played at Burton Park in San Carlos. Since Misrack's finished first in the round-robin standings, the Reds must beat them twice in order to claim the title.

The first game will start Sunday at 1:30 p.m. If Menlo Park wins, the second will be played Monday (Labor Day) at the same time.

Menlo Park played a tune-up contest against the Peninsula Rookies last night at Washington Park in Santa Clara and will meet another foe, as yet unnamed, Friday at 8 p.m. at Washington.

Eddie Hoffacker was the starting pitcher last night and Sam Williams will pitch Friday nights' contest. Sunday, it will be Ron Cataldo, who pitched four and a third innings of one-hit, shutout relief ball against San Carlos in the Shaugnessy Playoffs opener last week.

Menlo won that game, played at San Carlos. 5-1 with a four-run rally after two were out in the eighth inning. Misrack's had to come from behind in the last of the ninth to overtake fourth place Palo Alto 7-6 in its opening playoff tilt.

In the regular season tilt this year, Misrack's scored three times in the first inning and defeated the Reds 4-1. Righthander Rich Nold, who will bethe starting pitcher Sunday, struck out 14 batters in that game.

For the firt time in three weeks, the Reds expect to have their full lineup on hand Sunday. Pitcher Joe Durelli, catcher Lyman Ashley and third baseman Steve Chell, who all have been in the East the past two weeks, are expected back. Jesse Washington, who had to work last weekend, also is due back.

Thanks to a last minute work shift, first baseman Dick Cesarin, the Reds' leading hitter, was able to play against San Carlos and his presence in the lneup led to the victory.

Cesarin hit a solo home run to tie the score 1-1 in the third inning. In the sixth he ripped a line single off the left-center field fence.

In the eighth, with two out, the score still knotted 1-1, and Cataldo on second base, San Carlos Manager Hal Petrocchi decided against pitching to Cesarin. He ordered Steve Caria to intentionally pass him.

Dale DeSilva followed this with a ground single to left, driving in Cataldo. Cesarin and DeSilva advanced to third and second on the throw home, leaving first base open again.

Petrocchi again called for the intentional pass, putting on long-ball hitting John Carli. Then the SC manager went to the bullpen for his pitching ace, Art Amaya.

IN TROUBLE

Cataldo relieved Pete Coccioni, who had been in trouble constantly, with two outs in the fifth and put on a masterful pitching performance.

San Carlos, which edged the Reds by a half-game for second place in the round robin standings, scored in the second on a walk, an infield single and a bloop single after two were out.

The Merchants had two scoring opportunities nullified, however. A leadoff triple in the third was wiped out when Lee Ferrerra was called out for missing second base. In the sixth a runner scored from first when a bunted ball was thrown wildly, but the batter was called out for stepping on the plate and the runner sent back to first base.

Menlo's scheduled game with the San Mateo Boys Club last Friday night had to be cancelled at the last minute.

Sequoia League Gridders Prep For Season

Coach Wayne Bell's Menlo Park entry in the Sequoia Football League "should improve from here on,' 'the mentor said after a disappointing scrimmage against the East Palo Alto team last week.

Another scrimmage was held against San Carlos yesterday as the team prepped for the season opener against East Palo Alto on Sunday, Sept. 16.

Before the season starts, however, there'll be a Football Festival at 12 noon on Sunday, Sept. 9. Each team will play one quarter against the squad they'll meet on the first day of official league action.

The Festival and all league games will be played at Woodside High field.

Bell said the original sign-up list of 67 boys has been trimmed to 30 names. Included are six returnees—Dave Wotila, end, Bill McMonigle, quarterback; Kent Klokow, guard; Bob Wallace, tackle; Randy Demeter, halfback; Don Lenahan, halfback.

"We're hoping that Barry Lenahan, a top fullback and linebacker last season, will be able to qualify. He hasn't had a weigh-in yet," Bell said early this week.

If Barry is a team member, he's expected to be one of the sparkplugs along with McMonigle and Demeter.

Assisting Bell this season are Jim Loomis, line coach, and Fred Jackson and Sam Bradley, backfield coaches.

The Menlo Park team will use the T-formation, with some switches to the old single wing from time to time.

The boys have been working out at Burgess Park from 6:15 to 8 p.m. on week nights. They'll move to Nealon Park next Tuesday.

The Sequoia Football League team members must be between 10 and 13 years of age.

Junior Olympians Compete In Field Events At Nealon Park

Among the many and varied events which took place between 1 and 4 p.m. were baseball throws, sit-ups, relays, broad jumps, yard dashes, and obstacle courses in both the boys' and girls' divisions. These divisions were then divided into age groups, ranging from the 7-8 age group to the 13-14 age group.

The following are the results of the boys' contests:

Jeffry Jure and Paul Skrabo tied for first place in the 7-8 50 yard dash, with Tom Matteson nabbing second. Barry Biggerstaff, Mark Fisher and Dave McClure won respective first, second and third places in the 9-10 group. In 11-12 group, Bob Bone grabbed first and Tom Klick settled for a second. Mark Kertz was the lone first placer in the 13-14 group.

In the 7-8 75-yard dash Paul Skrabo snared the first place, with Bill Sander tailing with his third. Barry Biggerstaff, Mark Fisher and Dave McClure again won respective first, second and third places in the 9-10 group. Winning respective placings were Bob Bohle, Tom Jarvis and Tom Whitmeir in the 11-12 group. Tying for first place in the 13-14 group were Randy McClure and Mark Kertz.

First place winners in the baseball throw were Bruce Shanks in the 7-8 group, Scott Penny in the 9-10 group, Tom Jarvis in the 11-12 group, and Tony Ramirez III in the 13-14 group.

Pat Taylor, in the 7-8 group, and Dave Matteron, in the 9-10 group, each snared first place in the football throw.

Sit-uppers Tom Matteron, Tim Taylor, Brien Hill, and Randy McClure all nabbed first places in the sit-ups division. The boys are listed ranging from their age groups, 7-8, 9-10, 11-12 and 13-14 respectively.

Concluding the events was an obstacle course in which Marty Cattaneo, 7-8, placed first. Scott Penny took the 9-10 group. Steve Furuta grabbed first in the 11-12 group, with Bob Bohle, second place, not far behind.

In the girls' division there was much competition in most of the contests.

Placing first, second, and third respectively in the 7-8 50 yard dash were Christine Hafner, Bernadette Goubirou, and Melanie Collins. In the 9-10 group, Barbara Franklin, Ellen Barkley, and Carol Jorgenson nabbed respective titles. Lynne Needham, first place, was closely followed by Lynn McClure, second place, in the 13-14 group.

In the 7-8 75 yard dash, Christine Hafner and Bernadette Goubirou placed respectively. Ellen Barkley, Barbara Franklin, and Carol Jorgenson were the three top placers in the 9-10 group. In the 11-12 participants, Lynne Needham placed first, with Lynn McClure trailing close behind for a second.

First place winners in the girls' baseball throw were Christine Hafner 7-8, Ellen Barkley 9-10, and Lynne McClure, 11-12.

Melanie Collins, 7-8, Ellen Barkley, 9-10, and Lynn Needham, 11-12, grabbed first places in their groups doing sit-ups.

Winding up the day with the girls' obstacle course, Christine Hafner snared first place in the 7-8 group. Barbara Franklin and Robin Marlin of the 9-10 group took first and second place respectively. M. Mullennier, 13-14, snatched first place for her group.

LOOKS AS IF . . . . . Stewart McClure, the boy with the football, knows his football form as he competes in the football throw contest during Junior Olympic Day at Nealon Park last Friday. Even though a bevy of fans surround him Stewart didn't win in this division.

Ladera Holds Championships

The fourth annual Ladera Swimming Championships will be held Saturday afternoon, September 8, at the Ladera Recreation District pool.

The competition for district members and Ladera residents will get under way at 1:30, with events scheduled in free style, butterfly, back stroke and breast stroke.

Kent Morton, pool manager, said the four categories will be limited to youths 16 years of age and under. Some adult events may be included, he noted.

First, second and third place ribbon awards will be featured as in previous years.

Morton said those interested in competing should register at the pool office on or before September 5.

Seven Months Running:

Bells to Ring For Last Time Saturday

"Bells Are Ringing," the musical comedy about the telephone answering service operator who becomes too involved with her clients, will end a seven-month run at the Comedia Theater, 1300 El Camino Real in Menlo Park, with this Saturday's performance at 8:30 p.m.

The musical by Adolph Green and Betty Comden with music by Jule Styne, ran for over two seasons on the Broadway stage with Judy Holliday in the leading role. The Sept. 1 performance at Comedia will mark its seventh month, ranking it among the longest running Comedia productiois, which include "The Boy Friend," which ran for a total of eight months, "Where's Charley?", which ran for seven months and "Damn Yankees" and "Once Upon A Mattress," which each ran for six months.

"Bells Are Ringing" features Carole Warren in the leading role playing opposite Allen Praefke.

Further information about the production may be obtained by calling DA 6-6560 from 2-5 and 7-9 p.m. daily.

DEER KILL OFF

The early-season deer kill in San Mateo County has fallen off sharply this year, according to the first two-week totals released by the state Department of Fish and and Game. This year's kill in the first two weeks of the season was 68, compared to 116 in 1961 and well below the average kill of 92. Statewide, the two-week total was 7403, also well under the 7987 of last year, but still over the average of 7391.

Three Locals Win:

Car Enthusiasts Capture Places

Three Menlo Park people captured places in the first annual Stock Car Championships at Fremont Dragstrip last Sunday, with over 200 drivers racing for top cash prizes.

Ken Fenney of Menlo Park was seventh stocker eliminator, whose NS Ford did 87 mph in 16.10 seconds.

Bob Johnson's Pontiac did 88.90 mph in 15.50 seconds. One hundred five mph in 13.50 seconds was Elliott-Lauritzen's time. Their Chevrolet ran in the modified stockers, modified Olds class.

Comedia Director:

Aldo Bozzini to Direct 'Flower Drum Song'

"Flower Drum Song," the San Jose Light Opera Association fall production, will be directed by Aldo Bozzini, San Franciscan who is the director of two shows now being presented by Comedia Repertory Theater in Menlo Park, it has been announced by Mrs. Willard Morell, president. This will be his introduction to San Jose.

The two he is directing for Comedia are "Bells Are Ringing" and "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes." He also has directed "Oh Captain," "Fanny" and "Two for the Seesaw" for the Company of the Golden Hind in San Francisco.

The San Jose Light Opera Company's production of "Flower Drum Song" is scheduled for Oct. 26-27 and Nov. 2-3-9-10.

MP Fencers Have Foiled Berkeley

The Menlo Park Fencers Club met the Berkeley Fencing Club at Grove Center Gymnasium recently to chalk up a 26-10 victory. The competition consisted of matches between the first and second foil teams, saber teams, and epee of the two clubs.

The Menlo Park teams were represented by the following people: First foil, Dick Watson, Lee Sentman and John Tatum; second foil, Bruce Burkhart, George Godlewski and Jon Smith; epee, Hank Lehrer, Jim Sturrock and Giles Plew; saber, Dick Watson, Lee Sentman and Paul Petani.

Results of the meet are as follows: Menlo Park's first foil, 5, to Berkeley's 4; Menlo Park's second foil, 8, to Berkeley's 1; Menlo Park's saber, 6, to Berkeley's 3; Menlo Park's epee, 7, to Berkeley's 2.

LOSES TEAMMATE

The Menlo Park Fencers lost one of their strongest supporters and one of their best woman fencers last Friday when Mrs. Patricia Howarth returned to England. Her loss considerably weakens the women's team and will be felt quite keenly in competition.

COLOR CASCADES

Growing plants atop a retaining wall or in a raised bed and letting their color cascade over the side is an eye-catching trick of the gardener's trade. Not all plants will oblige by growing down instead of up, however. Good subjects for this treatment: ivy geranium, convolvulus mauritanicus, lotus bertheloti, lantana and lobelia for sunny spots; trailing campanula for sun or shade; and hanging fuchsias for shady corner. Star jasmine is one of the best and very easy to care for.

Riddled Reds Amazed at Season Record

Only One Starter Goes Full Season

That the Menlo Park Reds are playing over .500 ball, much less vying for the El Camino League semipro baseball championship in playoff finals thois weekend, is a little bit amazing.

A long string of player losses for from everything from injuries to signing professional contracts to entering the armed services to retirement riddled the club early in the season and caused a constantly changing lineup.

Only one player who will be in the starting lineup in the playoff final Sunday against Misrack's Sporting Goods at San Carlos was in the lineup for the Reds in the ECL league opener on June 3.

Bob Hattan has been the starting center fielder in all but one of the Reds' 47 games this season. More players have filtered through the other eight positions than at any time in Menlo's five year semipro history.

To begin with, six players were lost from last year's strong squad which won 29 gahes and finished second in two leagues, losing out in the final week of the season.

Three signed professional baseball contracts. Outfielder Dave Turnbull went to the New York Yankees for $18,000. First baseman Brownie Taylor, the team and Santa Clara League batting champion, signed with the Los Angeles Angels for $13,000 and home run and RBI leader Dale DeSilva went with the Minnesota Twins for $7000.

RETIRES

Gary Geagan, all-Santa Clara League third baseman, and Jack Foley, pitcher and pinch hitter extraordinary, entered the service for six months.

The season was barely under way in May when three players were lost for the season with injuries. Pitcher Rich Koeper hurt his hip first, then developed an arm ailment. The Reds' ERA leader last season, he pitched briefly and very ineffectively, compiling an 0-4 record.

Shortstop Don Wieseman suffered torn knee ligaments in a play at second base and pitcher Ted Tollner broke his right wrist playing in an Alumni football game at Cal Poly. Both still are recuperating.

Bad news continued to hit the team. Several players the Reds worked hard to recruit did not join the club for various reasons. Fancy-fielding second baseman Jim Harper went back home to Riverdale when he couldn't find a suitable summer job on the Peninsula.

Two more players went into professional baseball. Third baseman Jim Tabor signed with the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Los Angeles Angels picked off pitcher Jerry Reed.

First baseman Bob Pleasant broke his leg playing softball and was lost for the remainder of the season.

REDS LOSE

By this time, late in June, the Reds had an 8-15 record, had lost nine of their last 11 games, and appeared headed for a spectacularly dismal season. The only time the lineup was the same for two consecutive games was on the road trip to Oregon, new faces with promising reputations were given trials but found wanting.

Then, on June 30, something happened. George Thacher, who had just joined the team to play shortstop, hit two home runs as the Reds murdered the United Air Lines Mainliners 22-3.

In the next four games, Menlo scored 64 runs and won the Peninsula Zone championship of the National Baseball Congress Tournament.

Pitcher Joe Durelli was released from the New York Yankees organization and has not been beaten in games with Menlo since.

Menlo finished second in the Northern California tourney and might well have won but for two arm injuries suffered by pitchers.

Shortly after, Menlo suffered another setback when second baseman Rich Jefferies, a .339 hitter and great leader in the field, suffered a serious ankle injury and was lost for the season. Al Facchini, veteran of 11 year of professional experience, joined the squad to replace him, however.

Two other key additions were made. Sabella's of San Francisco disbanded its squad and John Carli, who hit five home runs against the Reds in two games last season, joined Menlo Park.

The San Francisco Giants released lefthanded pitcher Ron Cataldo from their Eugene, Ore., farm club. The LA Angels immediately picked up Cataldo, but had no room in their farm system for him until next spring, so they loaned Cataldo to the Reds.

All of a sudden the Reds were one of the strongest semipro teams in the state.

Other player additions were 1961 star DeSilva, who suffered fractures of both hands playing in the Minnesota organization and was released, and veteran Sam Williams.

With these additions, some come-through efforts by such as catchers Bob Poole and Lyman Ashley, first baseman Dick Cesarin, third baseman Steve Chell, outfielders Bob Hattan and Jesse Washington and pitcher Pete Cocconi, the Reds posted a fine record of 19 wins and five losses since June 30 to take a 27-20 season mark into this week's action.

To see them play, you'd never believe they were 8-15 in June.

TRADITIONAL . . . . . . handshake is extended to the Menlo Reds' Dick Cesarin by manager Dennis Anderson, as Cesarin rounds third base after hitting his solo homerun in the third inning. His team won the rally with San Carlos Merchants 5-0.

CSM Lineup To Begin Practice

Approximately 60 prospective College of San Mateo football players are expected at Coyote Point Thursday, Aug. 30, when coaches Doug Scovil and Cliff Giffin will issue equipment to the 1962 Bulldog squad.

Regular practice begins Saturday with two-a-day sessions scheduled throughout the Labor Day weekend on the practice field at Coyote Point. Beginning with the opening of school Sept 4, regular single afternoon sessions will be held.

Scovil and Giffin have but two weeks to prepare their charges for the CSM opener at traditional rival Stockton on Sept. 15.

Line coach Giffin must begin practically from scratch. End Larry Schilbe is the only starting lineman back from the 1961 Bulldog squad which was ranked fourth in the United States. First team All-American tackle Larry Hansen and all conference guard Joe Butcher both completed their eligibility last year.

But with Schilbe and the other two returning starters — quarterback Rich Norman and halfback Clarence Hamel—Scovil has a nucleus around which to build his 1962 attack.

Norman was voted the most improved player in 1961. Hamel received honorable mention All-American status along with Butcher and was named co-winner of the CSM President's trophy, along with Jim Cheatham of Menlo Park. Four other lettermen of 1961 return.

Newcomers include Serra backfield flash Steve Firenze and Padre lineman Tom Nolan.

Some of the top Peninsula League guards and tackles of 1961 will alsb join the San Mateo squad, including Frank Kagarakis of South San Francisco, Sam Moore and Barry Bierman of Hillsdale, Bob McElhany of Burlingame, and Capuchino's Walt Wenger.

Among the backfield stars expected Thursday are Jefferson halfback Sam Ennon, Westmoor quarterback Steve Funai, and fullback Frank Downs from San Mateo, who is slated for end duties.

Family season tickets admittin gthe entire family to all five CSM home games are on sale for $2.50 from Athletic News Service at the college.

Ladera Mermen Are Champions

Champion for the first time this summer in informal Peninsula league competition is the Ladera Recreation District's 130-member swim team. The fast-rising group, coached by Ladera pool manager Kent Morton, finished on top last Thursday with a 7-2 record.

Tuesday night the Ladera swimmers were scheduled for a post-season match with Ladera Oaks, group they narrowly outmaneuvered at the start of summer competition. Ladera Oaks took first place in its own Peninsula Swimming Assn, competition this summer.

This is the third summer for the Ladera team to compete in an informal league setup. It lost out 2-5 and 0-5 in previous summer series.

Morton attributed much of his team's success to this year's new daily work-outs and the great benefit the youngsters have derived from them. However, he stressed that keeping the 45-minute sessions "on the level of fun" is equally important in explaining the team's record this summer.

The Ladera swim coach would like to see a formal swim team league organized for local recreation districts. Morton feels such a rec district league would be less "high pressure" and provide a broader, more constructive base for swimmers in general.

He singled out the following as outstanding in this summer's competition: Bill Ayer, Tito Rael, Kris Knutzen, Bill Abbott, Doug Taylor, John Hoehn, and Lois Texiera.

The informal league competition in free style, butterfly, back stroke and breaststroke included the following scores: Ladera 183, Ladera Oaks 180; Ladera 192, Burgess 171; Ladera 201, Alpine Hills 108; Ladera 225, Highland 137; Foothills 200, Ladera 187; Ladera 179, Eichler 156; Ladera 151, Belmont 131; Ladera 194, San Carlos 169; University Club 188, Ladera 123.

The team, which has doubled in membership since last summer, had more than 100 participating in the various meets. The point system was based on five for first place, three for second, and one for third.

Young Musicians Wind Up Season With Concert

Those high school and college students, who have participated in the Summer Band Program, will give their final performance in a free band concert. Locale of the concert will be the Burgess Theater Aug. 30 at 8 p.m.

The program will consist of the following selections and will be under the leadership of Dana Morgan.

The selections are Light Cavalry Overture by Von Suppe, Malaguena by Lecoma, La Feria by Lecoma, Glowworm by Lincke, Gippsland by Lithgow, Jolly Robbers by Von Suppe, Andalucia by Lecoma, and Under the Double Eagle by Wagner.

Carnival of Venice by H. Clarke will feature a trumpet solo by George Lutje of Redwood City, a recent graduate of Sequoia High School.

Trumpet trio in Burglars Holiday by L. Anderson will be Howard Sonstegard of Menlo Park, Jack Bertram of Palo Alto, and George Lutje.

Harold Shieb of Menlo Park will be featured baritone horn soloist in Night in June by H. King.

Full Fall Sked Gets Teen Nod

With the summer nearly at an end and school just around the corner, the fall program for 'teens is about to begin, starting with a dance on Aug. 31 for the Junior Teens (7:30 to 10:30 p.m. at Burgess Gym) and a dance for the Senior Teens (7:30 to 11 p.m. at Burgess Gym) on Sept. 1.

Among the many activities planned are the resumption of officer control, installation of officers on Sept. 14 at the Burgess Theater, and a training session for the newly elected officers of the junior and senior clubs.

Parents and friends are invited to attend the officer installation, which will last from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

Also planned are the organization of two new clubs, a Pre-Teen Club for seventh grade boys and girls and a Young Adult Club for people of 18 to 25 years and single. Information as to meetings and programming for the two new clubs can be obtained from the Recreation Department.

In order for the parents of Menlo Park to have a full knowledge of the activities of the teen program, a special meeting will be held in the near future, so that those parents interested may be made cognizant of all activities and methods of conducting trips and dances.

The leadership training program, scheduled to begin Sept 12, will be open to all interested youths. The program will consist of those subjects that are pertinent to the success of working with children of a younger age and qualifying the youth for possible recreation work in the future.

Beginning Sept. 24 will be a Pack Trip Introduction course. This program affords knowledge of trail safety, compass and map reading, first aid packing equipment for individuals and groups, nature study, and selection of campsites and shelters. The ultimate pack training will be a seven day pack trip into the Sierra-Nevada Mountains next summer.

For further information on all programming for the Teens, phone the Menlo Park Recreation Department, DA 5-3211.

Teens Slate Weekend Dances

Burgess gym will be the locale of two "Back to School" dances slated for this weekend, it was announced this week by Teen Club Supervisor, Hal Price.

The Junior Teen Club will sponsor its dance tomorrow night for teenagers who will be in the eighth or ninth grade next year. If a participant holds a membership card, admission will be free, but otherwise the price is 25 cents. The dance will begin at 7:30 and end at 10:30 a.m. Janice Steinmitz is the president of the junior club.

John Lewis, president of the Senior Teen Club, will be on hand to greet dance goers to the senior club's dance on Saturday night, which will last from 7:30 to 11 p.m. Admission price is the same for interested people in the tenth, eleventh or twelfth grade.

Only Menlo Park or Atherton teenagers will be admitted into the dances.

Roth Nabs Three Wins, Two Records

The Far Western Swimming and Diving Championships at Foothill College spotlighted Menlo-Atherton High sophomore, Dick Roth, last Friday. Roth, swimming for Fremont Hills, snatched up three first places and set two national age group records.

Roth started out by securing the 100 meter butterfly in 1:04.6 in the 13-14 age group. His 100 meter freestyle was won in 58.2. Then he went on to the 100 meter backstroke with a record time of 1:08.0.

Julian Krug, Menlo-Atherton High junior, scored 329.45 points in the competition. Diving in the boys 15-17 age group, he placed first in three meter diving competition.

Refined but Ragged:

Ferns Thrive In City Gardens, If Given Proper Care

There is a wild and woodsy quality of ferns. They are the pocture of refinement and delicacy, yet for all this, they smack of the ruggedness of a granite lined stream or the backwoods beauty of a shaded glen. Grow them in your garden and they impart something of this feeling.

Ferns are as beautiful in the city garden as they are in natures' wild. They fit formal or informal settings and are perfectly at home with other plants. Meet their relatively simple cultural requirements and they will thrive in your garden for years to come.

Ferns should be featured in shady places where they can hold their own with azaleas, camellias, fuchsias and other shade-loving beauties. They are also beautiful when planted beside a garden pool or in a rockery, provided it is not part of a sun-baked hillside. And even then, if you live in a coastal climate, you will get away with giving ferns a fair amount of sun.

Ferns are not bog plants, yet they like moisture aplenty at their feet. They like the drainage they might get at the margin of a stream, where moisture is readily available yet ever on the move. If you give them the same water care that you give azaleas, you hardly can go wrong.

This holds true for the soil, also. An acid soil is necessary and care should be taken to insure it. Use plenty of peat moss and leaf mold at planting time, mixing it thoroughly with the soil in your garden. If you would feature ferns in containers, use a mix containing one-third peat moss, one-third leaf mold and one-third garden loam.

The lady fern is a good one for the gardener to start with since it is among the easiest to grow and one of the showiest to be found. A deciduous fern, it is bare of fronds for a few weeks in winter, but it comes back with renewed vigor after a brief rest. Its broad, lacelike fronds are nearly four feet high on mature plants, providing a fine background for azaleas, Japanese iris or daphne. They form an interesting pattern when grown against a fence also.

so, for few plants have such graceful habits. True showoffs, these giant ferns are used best as single specimens in the entrance garden, or in a large tub on the terrace. Two generally are available. Australian tree

The tree ferns are favorites with gardeners and justifiably fern is the largest. Mature plants of this species are to be found 14 or 15 feet high but they didn't attain that height overnight. Be patient. The other tree fern is the New Zealand tree fern and if either is to goa into a tub make it this one.

There are several asparagus ferns which the gardener would do well to check in his nursery. One of the most popular is the hanging basket fern which tumbles down in a fine mass of delicate foliage. These are not true ferns, but who's to argue. Indoorsmen will want to try maidenhair fern, birds nest fern and holly fern, a glossly little number that goes perfectly in the house.

Maidenhair fern scarcely needs description for it is a standard item in corsages. The birds nest fern is a graceful, stiff-stemmed little fern with wavy margins on its broad-bladed fronds. The holly fern is an oddity among ferns, glossy of leaf and sping enough in looks to remind one of holly itself.

At Romany Farm:

Models Named For Benefit

Noel Reyburn, assistant superintendent for Santa Cruz county schools, will be fashion show emcee at Woodsides' gala "Garland of Roses" on Saturday, Sept. 8.

A feature film actor before becoming an educator, he is considered highly qualified for commentating the Woodside Lions benefit at Romany Farm.

While an administrator in the San Carlos school system, Reyburn served as master of ceremonies at the Chicken's Ball, San Carlos PTA take-off on San Francisco's "Barbary Coast Days."

REPEAT PERFORMANCE

A formal horse show will highlight the second "Garland of Roses." California Horse Show Exhibitors are sponsors with Basil Willett acting as chairman and manager and Charles J. Broad as ring master.

Many of the finest show horses in California will be exhibited. Heading the list will be Mr. Lightfoot of Romany Farm who will be shown by his 18-year-old owner, Alex Battin. Mr. Lightfoot is a Kentucky bred horse who has won many championships in eastern shows in the five-gaited classification. He is undefeated in the two years he has been on the Pacific Coast.

Kathy McEnerney on Damn Yankee, the high-pointed three agited saddle horse of the California Horse Show Exibitors Association, will be favored in this classification since he was undefeated in ladies classes on the Pacific Coast last year. However, Miss Joan Luke on Willie B., fresh from victories at Del Mar and Tally Ho shows, will be among strong contenders.

Adrian Long on his West Coast champion black stallion Tennessee walking horse is favored in this event.

Among top junior riders will be Julie Peterson on Sally's May Day, trying for the victory that would give her the third leg of the Walter Johnson challenge trophy.

TOP MODELS

The horse show will begin at 6 p.m., followed by a fashion show and dinner dance at which a display of fall fashions will be shown by Mid-Peninsula socialite models.

Mrs. W. F. Hickey of Woodside is in charge of preparations for the show and has named the following models. Mrs. James Harris, Mrs. Richard W. Dorst, Mrs. William G. Moore, Mrs. Edson Piers, Mrs. Herbert James Cornish III, Mrs. Phillip A. Peller, Mrs. Robert Winkler, Mrs. Barney Collins, Mrs. Jay Koogle, Mrs. Ernest Downing Haseltine, Mrs. Warren Debenham and Linda Coughlin.

Dinner dancing music will be provided by the popular Park Squires.

All proceeds from the affair will be put aside by the Woodside Lions Club for the ultimate purchase of a site on which a Woodside public library building will be constructed.

Harold Sox Weds

Repeating wedding vows at the Portalhurst Presbyterian Church in San Francisco on Sunday, Harold Carleton Sox Jr. claimed the former Carol Helen Hill as his bride.

Carol is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Hill of San Francisco. Harold's parents are Dr. and Mrs. Harold C. Sox of Menlo Park.

The bride chose a white Italian silk gown which was fashioned with a chapel length train. Her fingertip length veil was of Brussels lace and she carried a cascade bouquet of white orchids and stephanotis. She was given in marriage by her father Reverend Gilbert F. Close and Reverend Floyd Barr officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Maize colored silk shantung dresses were worn by the bride's sister, Barbara Lee Hill, honor attendant, and Carolyn Roberts, the single bridesmaid. Each girl carried a bouquet of bronze chrysanthemums.

The male contingent of the wedding party included David Sox of Menlo Park, the benedict's brother and ushers Allan Hill, the bride's brother; Jonathon Sox, Harold's brother and William Griffiths, Edward Sox Jr. and Carl Sox, also cousins of the bridegroom.

A reception was given at the church after the ceremony. Mrs. Hill greeted guests in a pale green silk shantung jacket dress. Mrs. Sox chose a blue silk coat dress for her son's wedding.

Carol was graduated from Abraham Lincoln High School in San Francisco and attended Stanford University and the University of Michigan.

Harold was graduated from Phillips Academy in Andover, Mass., and from Stanford.

The newlyweds will live in Boston after a honeymoon spent on a pack trip in the High Sierra.

Nativity Church:

Carolyn Wyman Becomes Bride

Pale pink and white was the theme carried out by the bridal party at the wedding of Carolyn Eileen Wyman and Kenneth Wayne Moots.

The couple was married in an afternoon ceremony at Church of the Nativity in Menlo Park. Rev. William Boyle officiated at the Aug. 25 nuptials.

Given in marriage by her father, Adolph A. Wyman, the bride wore a full length gown of silk illusion tulle. Tiny seed pearls and irridescent sequins were sprinkled across the bodice. The gown also featured a sabrina neckline, long pointed sleeves, and rose point lace.

Her elbow length veil was fastened by a crystal teardorop crown. White orchids and lily of the valley composed her bouquet.

Pink peau de soie was worn by the brides' attendants. They carried white and pink roses and wore veils secured by pink crowns.

Carolyn chose Mrs. Gino Codemo of Palo Alto, a close friend, to be her matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Susan Moots of San Jose, cousin of the bridegroom, and Mary Ann Meagles of San Francisco.

Jerry Armstrong of Watsonville stood as his cousin's best man. Seating the guests were Donald Wyman of Palo Alto, cousin of the bride, and Ted Young of Menlo Park.

Mrs. Wyman chose a French blue silk crepe dress for her daughter's wedding. Kenneth's mother received guests in a beige sheath dress.

Moore's in Belmont was the locale for the reception which followed the ceremony; 250 attended.

The newlyweds will honeymoon in Southern California, then return to make their home in Menlo Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Moots of Menlo Park are the parents of Kenneth and his brother, Lawrence Moots of the United States Air Force in Spain.

Nuptial Rites Repeated

The bride, dressed in a celadon green peau de soie dress, was given in marriage by her brother, Gerald A. Robinson of Palo Alto. Mrs. Charles Morris Jr. of Tracy, sister of the bride, was matron of honor She wore grey-green brocade. Pat carried a bouquet of Amazon lilies, stephanotis and lily of the valley. Her attendants carried white carnations.

Pat is the daughter of Mrs. Lloyd Dewey Robinson of Los Altos and the late Mrs. Robinson. Her husband is the son of Mrs. Anne N. Griffith of Menlo Park. The couple will live in Los Altos after returning from a wedding trip to an undisclosed location.

The guests were seated by the bride's brothers, David M., Daniel L. and Michael L. Robinson, all of Los Altos.

Griff, as the bridegroom is known, is a grauate of Placer Union High School in Auburn, attended Northwestern University and was graduated from Menlo College. He is employed by the Container Corporation of America in Santa Clara.

He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Nylen of Madison, Wis. Mrs. J. A. Sebastion of Palo Atlo is his sister.

Mrs. Janet Levy:

Little House Director Is Special Consultant

Peninsula Volunteers Incorporated, sponsors of Little House, Menlo Park senior activity center, have announced the resignation of Mrs. Janet Levy, executive director of the center.

In her new position as special consultant to the Citizens Advisory Committee on Aging, Mrs. Levy will still be closely associated with Little House in helping to develop new senior citizen programs throughout California.

Mrs. Levy came to Little House two years ago and under her leadership many new programs were started. A professional chef was hired to work with Little House volunteer members so that, five days a week, a complete luncheon has been prepared and served for all members and their guests.

VOCATIONAL AID

Community services now being stressed at Little House include the Agnew visiting program, the "Share" Christmas party for two needy families in Santa Clara and San Mateo counties, an Easter egg hunt for handicapped youngsters of San Matco County, a tea for homebound persons in the Friendly Visiting program, an exchange of programs with nearby nursery school and Little House members visiting school classrooms to give vocational information and direction.

Recently the Housing and Employment service was divided into separate services and under the new housing service, Little House members assist with matching available housing with older persons seeking suitable living quarters in this area.

Under the educational division of Little House, night classes are available for those members either still working or unable to attend daytime classes.

BACKGROUND

Mrs. Levy spent her undergraduate years at San Francisco State College, and was graduated in 1957 with a degree in Social Work. The emphasis of her work was on community organization and group activity.

Following Mrs. Levy's degree in Social Work, she obtained her Master of Science degree in Rehabilitation Counseling with an emphasis on Gerontology at San Francisco State College. During her graduate work, Mrs. Levy attended Columbia University in New York City while participating in rehabilitation classes at the Institute for the Crippled and Disabled.

It was during this period that Mrs. Levy served her internship at Little House, Crystal Springs Rehabilitation Center, and at the Vocational Rehabilitation Services Center in San Francisco. She then toured a number of European countries, principally England and the Netherlands, visiting programs for senior citizens.

On her return, she was appointed special consultant to the Citizens Advisory Council on Aging for the state of California. She served under the chairman, Mrs. A. M. G. Russell, Atherton, and Louis Kaplan, executive secretary. Her special assignment for the committee was a federal grant for the purpose of providing information concerning leisure-time activities for the White House Conference on Aging.

As special consultant, Mrs. Levy covered 20,000 miles in nine months, visiting and observing senior programs in 58 counties.

At the same time, she cooperated with city government and recreation officials in an effort to improve community participation and programs for senior citizens.

Mrs. Levy is a member of the board of directors of the National Kidney Disease Foundation which works closely with such local organizations as the Stanford Convalescent Home and the state Crippled Children's Society.

Mrs. Mary Louise Lee, who has been associate director, will succeed Mrs. Levy as director of Little House.

Crane-Gravelle Nuptials

Ravenswood High School basketball coach Thomas Austin Crane claimed Sanda Joy Gravelle as his bride last Saturday in rites at St. Athanasius Catholic Church in Mountain View. Father William J. Ahlback performed the 3 p.m. ceremony.

Sandra is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Gravelle of Mountain View. Mr. and Mrs. Austin Crane of East Palo Alto are Tom's parents.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a gown of chantilly lace. Featured was its ballerina length. A Mantilla lace veil framed her face when she carried white stephanotis and a single white orchid.

Only attendant, Sharon Blundell, served as Sandra's maid of honor. She fulfilled her role wearing a blue chiffon sheath with matching satin shoes. Secured in her hair was a blue net veil and she carried pink rosebuds and pink carnations.

Approximately 60 guests attended the reception which followed the ceremony. It took place in the Stanford Room at Rickey's Hyatt House.

Mrs. Gravelle received guests in a gold and green brocade sheath dress. For her son's wedding, Mrs. Crane wore a blue sheath dress. Both ladies wore pink orchid corsages.

The new Mrs. Crane left for her honeymoon in Carmel wearing a summer suit with beige shoes, hat and purse. The newlyweds will make their first home in Palo Alto.

Sandra is a graduate of Ravenswood High School and will attend San Jose State College as a sophomore next year.

The benedict was graduated from Menlo - Atherton High School and San Jose State College. He is a physical education instructor and basketball coach at Ravenswood High School. Mrs. Pat Boc is his sister.

"INVITATION . . . . to the Dance" as symbolized by Suzanne McMurtry is the purpose of the Sept. 8 Heurige designed last year to build support for Peninsula Symphony's Viennese Ball. Mrs. Wayne L. Prim (at left), Mrs. John C. Richards and Mrs. Lillian Keber (at right) agree that Heurige is a draw in itself and a fitting preview to the ball to be held on Oct. 20 this year at the Peninsula Country Club.

Dance group will begin their fall series of lessons Sept. 7 when they will join Phil and Polly Reilly's dancing classes at the Greenmeadow Community Center in Palo Alto on Friday nights.

The lessons continue for six weeks and the Newcomers will have four parties after the lessons during those six weeks. The first party will be held Sept. 7 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Clough. Any Newcomer interested in joining this group may call Mrs. Donald Clough, EM 8-0859, or Mrs. Harry Shatto, DA 3-2702.

Local Artists Exhibit

A new exhibit will begin at Gallery House in Ladera on Aug. 28, featuring the work of Kenneth Orrett, Jean Jenkins and James Crittenden. The show will be on display through Sept. 16, and the gallery is open every day except Monday.

Kenneth Orrett, who is a long-time member of Gallery House, has for the last four years taught art at Foothill College. He has also taught in Sacramento and Azusa colleges, in local adult education classes, at the Palo Alto Academy of the Arts, and in private classes.

His paintings range from semi-abstract through abstract and are in many California collections. Among the places he has exhibited are the San Francisco Museum of Art, in a seven-man show sponsored by the Los Angeles Art Association, in three Phelan Award shows and at the Corcoran Art Gallery in Sacramento. He has also had one-man shows at Foothill College and at "Outside at the Inside" in Palo Alto.

Jean Jenkins, who is a charter member of Gallery House, is the director of the Palo Alto Academy of the Arts and an instructor at Foothill College. She lives in Portola Valley. She is deeply interested in art education and is at present writing a textbook, "Art for the Teens," and working on a filmstrip on lettering.

Her work for the exhibit will include gold and silver-enamel jewelry, enameled bowls, and ceramics.

James Crittenden, who is a resident of Menlo Park, received his MA in art from Stanford University in 1954 and also studied at San Jose State College. He has taught in the Mountain View-Los Altos High School District for the past five years.

He traveled through Europe in 1950 studying arts and crafts and painting and spent a year doing a primitive art study in Australia and new Zealand. He also has worked at cinematography for Coronet instructional films.

Crittenden's paintings will include a wide range, from an abstract through a representational approach, including landscape and figure studies.

BON VOYAGE . . . . . . Dr. and Mrs. Clarence Ablow of 240 Santa Monica, Menlo Park, are pictured just before boarding their SAS polar jet recently for Europe. Dr. Ablow will attend the International Congress of Mathematicians in Stockholm. He is with the Stanford Research Institute. The Ablows will also tour Copenhagen, Oslo, Bergen and Paris.

Woodside Locale:

Visiting Nurse Assn. Hosts Board, Staff

Invitations are in the mail for the annual board-staff party for the Visiting Nursing Association of San Mateo County which will be held on Saturday, Sept. 15.

Setting will be the exotic patio gardens of hosts Dr. and Mrs. Albert J. Lubin of Woodside. The gardens feature outdoor braziers, modern sculpture and stone work, in combination with California live oaks, native plants and junipers. Mrs Lubin, a past president of the VNA and graduate of Stanford School of Nursing, is well known throughout San Mateo County for her long-time support of nursing services.

General chairman of the event is Mrs. Donald Smith of Menlo Park. Assisting her are Mrs. Jack Shaw of Atherton, Mrs. John Farquhar of Hillsborough, and staff nurses Mrs. Violet Marcus, Mrs. Sandra McCanne and Susan Rowe.

Mrs. Nathan Strauss of Woodside is in charge of hospitality; Mrs. Gregory Davis of San Mateo, publicity, and Mrs. Tom Markley of Burlingame, public relations committee chairman, hostesses, who will include Mrs. W. L. Daniels, Mrs. W. W. Dashiell, Mrs. John Findley, and Mrs. Lawrence Prager of San Mateo; Mrs. S. T. H. Farmer, Burlingame, Mrs. L. L. Neaudeau, Redwood City; Mrs. J. L. Rogers of Palo Alto, and Mrs. Robert Reining of South San Francisco.

Board members sponsoring the party are O. Leland Osborne, president; Mrs. Alvin Meyer, first vice president; Masao Tsubota, second vice president; Mrs. Lawrence Prager, secretary, and Norman Wherrett, treasurer.

Also invited to the affair are past presidents Mrs. Aileen Kulchar, San Francisco; Dr. Logan Gray, Mrs. Nelson Davis, Judge Marcel Biscay and Richard W. Blaisdell of San Mateo; John A. Cost, San Carlos; Mrs. Leonard Offield, Hillsborough, and F. W. Pearson Jr. of Redwood City.

Author and Lecturer:

Marie Mudra Tells Best Seller Story

Mrs. Marie Mudra, well-known author, lecturer and teacher, will review the best selling novel, "To Kill A Mockingbird" by Harper Lee, today at 2 p.m. at Little House, 800 Middle Ave., Menlo Park. The program is open to the public without charge.

"To Kill A Mockingbird" is a novel about the South during the depression years. "It was a sleeper," asid Mrs. Mudra, "but the news about the book spread by word of mouth until it reached the best seller list." The novel won the Pulitzer Prize in 1961.

Mrs. Mudra is the author of four novels, and three of these four books are about teen-agers. "David Farragut," "Look Beyond Tomorrow" and "A Feather For His Cap" were all written by Mrs. Mudra. "I was ghost author for the fourth novel," Mrs. Mudra informs.

Mrs. Mudra is a graduate of the University of Chicago and received her master's degree from Columbia University. For the next 22 years, Mrs. Mudra taught English literature and journalism and worked on the school paper and year book at a high school in Chicago. She also gave private lessons in literature and journalism.

Mrs. Mudra came to California in January 1959 and started teaching a writers' workshop class in the Menlo-Atherton High School adult education program. "One class soon grew to five," said Mrs. Mudra. "And this fall I will add still another class to my schedule. This will be an evening creative writing class at Little House.

"I love living in this area and my students are all so enthusiastic and interested in learning to write," said Mrs. Mudra. "I enjoy teaching and my only problem is finding enough free time to work on my new novel."

Alumnae Slates Tea

The Castilleja Alumnae Association will hold its annual "welcome back" tea for Castillejans old and new on Sept. 15 at 3 p.m. at the Allied Arts in Menlo Park.

Mrs. Richard Seward (Marianne des Marais '48)) of the Alumnae Association is in charge of the affair and is being assisted by Castillejans Donna Schwabacher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Schwabacher of Atherton; Sara Swartman, daughter of Mrs. William A. Swartman of Atherton; Cecelia Burchfiel, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Burchfiel of San Jose; Marian Biaggini, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Biaggini Jr. of Hillsborough, and Mardi de Veuve, daughter of Mrs. Hope de Veuve of Palo Alto.

Each year, the alumnae association chooses a "big sister" for each new student. The "big sister" calls on the new student and this, with the welcome back tea, alleviates the strain of entering a new school. During the first few weeks of school each new student has her "big sister" to acquaint her with other students and to help her with any problems which might arise.

Vallombrosa For Fashions

Costumes from the 19th century, as well as high-style fall fashions of 1962, will be modeled at the Catholic Laywomen's Retreat Association's annual fashion show and tea on Saturday, Sept. 8.

The show, "Shades of Autumn," featuring fashions from Livingston Brothers, will be shown at 2:30 p.m. and will be preceded by refreshments on the grounds of Vallombrosa Retreat House, 250 Oak Grove Ave. in Menlo Park at 1 p.m.

A special group of costumes, circla 1875-1900, from the era of Edward Hopkins, who was the original owner of the estate that is now Vallombrosa, will be modeled.

All proceeds from the show will go to the Vallombrosa building fund and reservations at $2.50 each may be made by contacting Mrs. Charles L. Gimpaoli, 1645 Beach St., San Francisco, WE 1-0634.

ADVICE . . . . . . is a sometimes thing with Count Marco (Marco Spinelli) of metropolitan newspaper connection. Here he is shown striking a nautical pose undoubtedly reflecting on his topic for the Sept. 6 Temple Beth Jacob Sisterhood Champagne Buffet to be given at the Atherton home of Mrs. Jerry Zones. Atherlons will join the lavish luncheon party at 44 McCormick Lane, Atherton.

Costume Efforts Advance

The Women's Auxiliary to Comedia Repertory Theater has achieved another outstanding success with its year-old Costume Shop at 361 Lytton Ave. in Palo Alto.

A large supply of costumes from the many plays regularly produced by the theater, plus as inspiration to list a costume headquarters in the telephone book last fall brought about the newest venture.

Some of the auxiliary members under the direction of Mrs. Jayne Dungan have operated the shop since last October. They have rented some $1800 worth of period costumes, masquerade outfits, and special character ensembles since that time.

Auxiliary members, all volunteers, have also made a number of costumes for local affairs as well as outfitted many fancy dress parties, performances and special school and social events.

The profits have helped provide costumes for the Comedia stage productions at the theater's temporary quarters at 1300 El Camino Real, Menlo Park, throughout the year.

The auxiliary has also raised funds to purchase a professional spotlight for the theater.

Not the least of its activities has been the organization of the Friends of Comedia, which comprises Peninsula citizens interested in cooperating to aid the only non-subsidized theatrical aggregation in the area.

The auxiliary is now assisting in arising funds for the new theater to be built at Town and Country Shopping Center.

Anyone interested in joining the auxiliary in its various endeavors is invited to call Mrs. Lionel Pearson, WH 8-1129.

Support to Benefits:

Atherlons Jam Fall Calendar

Count Marco is the guest attraction that will bring Atherlons and the Temple Beth Jacob Sisterhood together for luncheon on Sept. 6 at the home of Mrs. Jerry Zones.

A champagne buffet luncheon will be served at this affair and door prizes will be awarded. Previously the Atherlons will install their new officers at the home of Mrs. Wayne Prim.

During the month of September, the Atherlons will join a second group, the Chi Omega alumnae, for the sorority's annual benefit to be held at the Emmet Cameron home in Atherton. The new Mr. and Mrs. Social group is the sponsoring section for a party that will include swimming, buffet dinner, games and dancing. Reservations may be made with Marilyn Southern, DA 6-5002.

BRUNCH SHOWING

A third benefit will benefit through organized Atherlon attendance when the membership cancels a swim section meeting in favor of the Crippled Children's Fashion Show to be held Sept. 13 at Rickey's.

Tickets may be obtained through Mrs. Ed Brown, DA 5-0329, or Mhs. Eugene Majeski, DA 3-27774.

Other September meetings include the Atherlon board on Sept. 12 at the home of Mrs. Walter Leclerc at 8 p.m.

A Sept. 27 swim section will meet Sept. 27 from 11 a.m. until 3 p.m. at Alpine Tennis Club in Portola Valley. Reservations can be made through Carolyn Miller.

Evening Bridge will be played on Sept. 18 at 7:45 p.m. at Adele Norton's, 2010 Liberty Park, Menlo Park.

Fun and Funds announced a Sept. 20 meet at the home of Mrs. A. A. Hoover, 1315 Hobart St., Menlo Park. Mr. and Mhs. Bridge will meet on Sept. 21 (Friday) at 8 p.m. at the home of Ann Swanson, 1274 Bay Laurel, Menlo Park. To play, members are asked to phone Ann at DA 6-3818 by Sept. 18.

Afternoon Bridge will be played on Sept. 26 at noon at Marie Antoinette Inn, 1040 Noel Drive, Menlo Park. Reservations must be in by Sept. 24 to Thelma Martin, EM 9-4305.

The Beaux Arts group will meet on Sept. 27 at the home of Mrs. Wayne Prim, 48 Marianna, Atherton. Potluck supper will be served at about 6:30 p.m. Chairman Marion Hine, DA 5-1655, will accept reservations and answer questions about the arts and crafts groups.

Advance notice is given for the October luncheon. Menlo-Atherton Newcomers Club, Atherlons parent group, have invited the membership to join them in a Bay cruise.

A Las Vegas trip is in the offing for Atherlons and their husbands. Contact for those interested is Mrs. Wayne Prim. DA 6-0930.

Sneak Preview Seen

A "sneak preview" was in store for members of the planning committee of the Peninsula Symphony's Viennese Ball as they met for tea in the gardens of the home of Mrs. John Richards of Atherton recently.

Mrs. Lillian Keber and her Dance Caravan troupe presented some of the ballet which is to be a feature of the Viennese Ball, the symphony's fall social event to be held Oct. 20 at the Peninsula Golf and Country Club.

Among those present were Mrs. Clemens Reinking of Atherton who is in charge of hospitality for the ball; Mrs. Aaron Sten, wife of the Peninsula symphony's conductor and in charge of music for the ball; Mrs. Frank Ruys of Woodside, auxiliary president, and Mrs. William I. Cooley, Viennese Ball chairman.

Mrs. Keber is in charge of the ballet and Mrs. Richards is secretary of the auxiliary. Mrs. Wayne Prim of Atherton, who is assisting Mrs. Reinking, was also present.

PAACCS Skeds Fashions

The Palo Alto Auxiliary to the Crippled Children's Society of Santa Clara County will present "Breakfast at Tiffany's" fashion show and brunch Sept. 13 at Rickey's in Palo Alto.

"Breakfast at Tiffany's" will start at 10 a.m. Original jewels will be shown by Lindenmann of San Francisco, designer fashions by Ross Modes of Palo Alto, and music and singing by Mrs. Stanley J. Bernhard of Atherton.

Mrs. Robert F. Elliott of Menlo Park will be fashion coordinator for the show.

Modeling for next month's showing will be Mrs. Ann Downton and Mrs. Joseph H. Worrall of San Francisco; Mrs. Judson Sherrill, Mrs. Warren C. Stephens and Mrs. Clem Whitaker of Hillsborough; Mrs. Ron Recker of San Jose; Miss Lynn R. Ingersoll of Redwood City; Mrs. Grant B. Culley and Mrs. Edson Piers of Portola Valley; Mrs. Thomas Combellick of Los Altos and Mrs. Fredric Hunchare of Los Altos Hills.

Mrs. Stanley J. Bernhard and Mrs. Herbert M. Chisholm of Atherton may be contacted for tickets to the fashion show.

Dinner Reveals Betrothal

A family dinner party announced the engagement of Carol Lee Cuthbertson and Thomas Max Morton last weekend. Mr. and Mrs. David Cuthbertson entertained for their daughter and future son-in-law announcing that the young couple plans to be married next summer.

Tom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Morton of Ladera. His brother, John Kent Morton, was married only recently. He also has two sisters, Jane and Martha. The bridegroom-elect is employed for the summer at Ladera Recreation Center.

Both Carol and Tom were graduated from Woodside High School. Carol attended Monterey College and Tom is a student at Dartmouth. After their wedding, they plan to live in New Hampshire while Tom finishes college.

Carol is the granddaughter of Mr. and Ms. Clarence Johnson of Scottsdale, Ariz., and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cuthbertson of The Sequoias in Portola Valley. She has a sister, Connie, who will enter the University of Oregon this fall.

Three New Courses:

School Begins For Adults, Too

Among the new courses available this year are the mosaics class taught by Corning G. McKennee, head of the art department of Menlo-Atherton High School.

The creative art course, which will be taught by Mrs. Anne K. Foote, is also new to the class roster. Mrs. Foote holds a bachelor's and a master's degree from the University of Wisconsin, has taught adult classes in Wisconsin, New York and, for the past five years, in the Extended Day Division of the College of San Mateo.

Mary Louise Lee, executive director of Little House, Menlo Park, and instructor in supervision of counseling students, San Francisco State College, will teach the new leadership training course. Mrs. Lee holds a bachelor's degree in rehabilitation counseling from San Francisco State College and a master's degree in sociology journalism from Willamette University.

For additional information call EM 9-1411, ext. 62, at 9 a.m. to 4:45 p.m. After 6 p.m., call DA 2-8352.

Mansion Hosts Sept. Style Show

"An Afternoon at the Mansion" will be the theme of the luncheon and fashion show to be given at 12:30 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 12, by the women of St. Denis Guild in Menlo Park.

The party will take place in the historic Sharon Mansion in Sharon Heights. Mrs. David S. Turner will be commentator for the fashions which will be modeled by Mrs. Robert Hagman, Mrs. Joseph Rafferty and Mrs. Jack DeRegt.

Mrs. Edward Jacobsen is chairman of the luncheon with Mrs. George Furey as co-chairman. Their committee includes Mrs. Joseph Shannon, Mrs. William Zumach, Mrs. Reginald Buell, Mrs. John Shannon and Mrs. Leon McKinney.

Ladera Gallery Lends Paintings

A collection of 16 oil paintings, water colors and sculpture will be on display through Sept. 13 in the lobby of Hillsdale Manor Convalescent Hospital in San Mateo.

The collection is on loan to the hospital from the Gallery House, Inc., Menlo Park cooperative gallery located in the Ladera Country Shopper.

"We have found that art is a useful tool of therapy for many of our patients," said Lynn W. Norris, hospital administrator. "It helps to stimulate their interest and creates a lively topic of conversation. The public of course, is always welcome to come by and view this most interesting collection."

Hillsdale Manor Convalescent Hospital is located at 2883 South Norfolk St. in San Mateo.

FROM REDWOOD CITY

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Riviella, recently of Redwood City, are now making their home in Menlo Park, along with their two sons, 5 and 4.

ATHERTONIANS

The K. H. Schaefers and their son, 10, are now at home in Atherton. The Schaefers come from San Mateo.

Book Club Afternoon Planned

An afternoon of discussion, wine tasting and dining at the Villa Montalvo in the Saratoga foothills has been announced by the Great Books Council.

The date has been set for Sunday afternoon, Sept. 16. All friends of the Great Books will meet at 2:30 p.m. to discuss W. B. Yeats' "On Baile's Strand," the book of the day.

Following the group discussions there will be wine tasting of Almaden wines, with a buffet dinner scheduled for about 5:30 p.m.

Reservations are limited and must be made by Sept. 1. Checks may be made payable to the San Francisco Great Books Council and mailed to Mrs. J. P. Sturrock, 12480 Woodside Court, Saratoga. Admission price is $4 per person.

Participants must supply their own books, but a map showing the route to Montalvo will be mailed to all who send in for reservations.

United Nations Group Sets Bureau Up

Mrs. F. B. Duveneck Sr., chairman of the newly organized Palo Alto-Mid-Peninsula Chapter of the American Association for the United Nations announced that a speakers bureau is being organized.

Speakers will be available to meet with any group interested in being informed about the United Nations. Mrs. Duveneck may be contacted at 948-4814 for further information.

It was also decided at the executive board meeting held on Aug. 23 to form a study group for individuals interested in learning about the United Nations in all its aspects. The first meeting will be held Sept. 20. Mrs. Rose Grobstein, DA 6-8756, is in charge of arrangements for this group.

The next executive board meeting will be held on Sept. 6. Anyone interested is invited to attend.

Scholarship Teams With Fashion

The third annual fashion show of the San Mateo County Educational Office Employees Association will be held Saturday, Oct. 6, at the Hilton Inn, San Francisco International Airport.

The show is to be held to raise money for the association annual scholarship, awarded for work in the education field at the College of San Mateo.

Club Opens Season

Fall dates on a full calendar will be the topic when members of the Menertons gather Wednesday for their September fun party at Ladera Oaks Swimming and Tennis Club in the Portola Valley.

The annual fall dinner and dancing party is set for Saturday, Sept. 29, at Alpine Hills Tennis and Swimming Club.

In support of the Peninsula Children's Center for emotionally disturbed children, the Menertons will hold their first rummage sale Friday and Saturday, Oct. 5 and 6, in East Palo Alto.

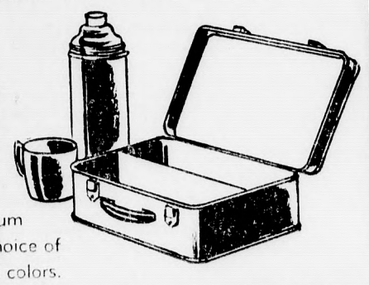

Traditionally, an end-of-summer get-together, Wednesday's party will combine bridge, bolivia and swimming, according to taste. Dessert will be served at noon.

Mrs. Joseph Brain, program chairman, is in charge of the afternoon, assisted by Mrs. J. Donald Fleming and Mrs. Richard DeZur.

AREA ARRIVALS

Area arrivals are Mr. and Mrs. R. F Kivlen and their son, 3, who recently arrived from New York. The Kivlens will call Menlo Park their home.
